

Fellow Citizens!

December 7th, 1941, is a significant date to all Americans. December 7th, 1942, should be of greater significance to all citizens of Newton. On that day 44 of your fellow citizens will follow some 4000 others who have left our city—their destination—"somewhere in the world"—to risk their lives on far battlefields.

On Monday, December 7th, at 8:00 A.M. all citizens who can do so, are urged to be present at the Newton City Hall, to participate in an impressive Send-Off Ceremony.

Five Hundred (500) Newton Boy Scouts and the Newton High School Band will demonstrate in a vivid way their appreciation of what the sacrifices of Newton's Citizens will mean to their future way of living.

We appeal to our older generation of citizens to turn out in goodly numbers on this important occasion to add their expressions of Good Luck and Godspeed to those of the younger group.

We can assure you that a warm send-off leaves a lasting impression and is appreciated no end by Sons of Newton on the days of their departure.

Fellow Citizens, will you hearken to your call of duty on Monday next?

(Sgd.) ROY S. EDWARDS, Chairman.

Earnshaw Knitting Mills Awarded Treasury Flag for Bond Purchases

The Earnshaw Knitting Mills of Newton, Mass., manufacturers of the famous Vanta Garments for Infants and Children, have been awarded the Treasury Flag for 100 per cent participation in the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps.

Francis E. Burke, Deputy State Administrator of the U. S. Treasury Department, presented the Minute Man flag to Edward Dane, president of Earnshaw, at ceremonies held recently in Newton. In making the award, Mr. Burke said, "Here is a large textile organization, without an opportunity to share high munitions plant wages, who nevertheless has unanimously illustrated high type citizenship of a rare quality."

Mr. Dane, in accepting the flag, thanked the Earnshaw employees for their marvelous display of patriotism.

The pledge on the part of 100 per cent of Earnshaw's employees to buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day was entirely voluntary. There was no solicitation by the management of the company. The idea for a War Bond campaign was conceived by a group of veterans of World War I employed by Earnshaw. They asked permission merely to "talk up" War Bonds among their fellow workers. Within four days after the veterans had started their campaign, every Earnshaw employee had pledged part of his pay envelope to the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps.

At the presentation ceremonies, T. R. Lockwood spoke for the Veterans, describing how the group had been organized, and telling how thrilled the veterans had been when their idea received such enthusiastic reception. Mr. Lockwood introduced Mr. Lawrence H. H. Johnson, treasurer; Mr. J. LeConey, superintendent; and Mr. D. Shea, who had carried

Highlands Improvement Association Votes Consent to Scrapping of Iron Fountain at Walnut and Forest Sts.

At a meeting on Monday evening members of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association voted unanimously to give their consent to the scrapping of the city of the ornamental fountain located at Walnut and Forest sts., Newton Highlands.

The fountain had been presented to the city by members of the Improvement Society half a century ago. It was voted to request that the base of the fountain be retained as a traffic island.

A request had been made to Mayor Paul M. Goddard by the Newton Garden Club that the fountain be scrapped and although no restrictions were recorded when the gift was received, City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett advised the mayor to obtain the approval of the present members of the Improvement Association before disposing of the fountain as proposed.

Representing the Garden Club, Ex-Alderman Donald D. McKay, who is also a member of the Improvement Association, moved that the necessary consent be given for the removal of the fountain.

Stop For Cigarettes Saved Their Lives

Taxi Driver Relates Experience On Night of Grove Fire

The following true story of the Coconut Grove fire on Saturday evening was related to the GRAPHIC by a Newton Corner taxi driver:

"I operate a taxi business here, as you probably know, and Saturday night, I was on Piedmont st. when that fire started. I had taken a party of Newton people almost to the corner of the Grove when smoke and flames gushed from the place. These people had planned to spend an hour or so there until train time for a service man returning to camp. On the way in from Newton they'd discovered themselves without cigarettes and decided to purchase some at Liggett's in Allston. I parked 'double' on Commonwealth ave., waiting for the boy who'd stepped out to get the smokes, but only long enough for a very tough traffic cop to cross over and order me to 'move.' I obeyed, of course, for as everyone knows, traffic cops are never wrong and in the process of driving around the block, in heavy traffic, delayed the journey to the Coconut Grove about ten or twelve minutes... just long enough to save the lives of my

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

EVER MADE BY THE U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars from accumulated savings and idle funds in the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort—without compensation of any kind—to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s—available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the Victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

BUY THESE VICTORY 2½'s NOW

Twenty-six year 2½ per cent bonds due December 15, 1968, callable December 15, 1963. Issued in coupon or registered form at the option of the buyer. Commercial banks will not be permitted to hold these bonds until ten years after the date of issue. There is no limit on the amount any eligible investor may purchase. Interest is paid semi-annually, June 15 and Dec. 15. The bonds will be sold in denominations from $500 to $100,000. In the event of the death of a holder, the bonds may be redeemed at 100% and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying federal estate taxes.

Two series of shorter term obligations: (a) 1½ per cent bonds due June 15, 1948, and (b) 7/8 per cent certificates of indebtedness due one year after issuance. These securities are open for subscription by banks, and also by all other classes of investors, whether private, corporate or institutional.

Other Treasury Securities offered to investors through the Victory Fund Committee are Treasury Tax Savings Notes A and C, and U. S. Savings Bonds, Series F and G.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Newton Graphic:

It would be interesting to learn what disposition is made of the many thousands of gallons of oil removed from automobile crankcases.

Is there any way that this material could be salvaged and re-distilled and mixed with house heating fuel to help relieve the shortage?

There must be many millions of B. T. U's (British Thermal Units) of heat left in this oil.

According to the Registry of Motor Vehicles as of October 31, 1942, there are a total of 909,508 passenger and commercial vehicles on Massachusetts roads alone—I do not have figures on other New England States but it must be a considerable number and allowing 12 gallons per car per year which is drained off would give us a grand total of 10,914,096 gallons.

If there is any merit at all in my suggestion surely the potential heating value in this galloneage must be very considerable, and understand it is now being used in part by greenhouse owners.

Very truly yours,
DORIS CARLEY.

POLITICS

WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Cocanut Grove Holocaust

That ghastly holocaust at the Cocanut Grove last Saturday evening is still so fresh in my mind that ordinary political developments pale into insignificance. However, as many of my readers will doubtless realize, there is strong probability that vital political angles to this disaster will be turned up before the investigation has gone very far. God help anybody who endeavors to whitewash the current probe. Nobody with any heart or soul can possibly desire anything but the most thorough, impartial and fearless investigation, regardless of the prominence or power of the individuals who may be involved. More especially do I hope that that fine, courageous and honest youngster, Stanley F. Tomaszewski of Dorchester, is not made the one and only goat of this tragedy. Anybody with half a brain can see at once that the trail leads much higher up than this poor lad, who has already displayed a manliness under fire that might well be emulated by a good many older, wiser and more responsible men. Let us hope that attention will be focussed, instead, on the question as to how this young lad came to be employed at the Grove at all, in direct violation of the law, which specifically states that a boy of his age shall not be employed in a place where liquor is served. Let nobody try to laugh off that one. However, the main point is simply this. There has been hideous laxity in several quarters, which it may not be wise to discuss in detail just yet. There is the question of the building laws, adequate and frequent fire inspections, properly marked exits (kept open, incidentally, and not locked), improper and dangerous interior decorations, frequent overcrowding of nightclubs, which is, presumably, winked at, and the proper issuing of licenses. Now, it is dollars to doughnuts that the right kind of investigation will reveal political influence of one sort or another in connection with the terrible fire, which has snuffed out nearly 500 lives, many of them young people or men in the armed services. It is encouraging to note that our own Robert T. Bushnell, dynamic Attorney General, has taken over and will personally supervise the sweeping investigation demanded by his aroused public. To me, this is sufficient assurance that there will be no whitewash. Go to it, gentlemen, and let the chips fall where they may.

Our Soldier-Statesmen

I wonder how many of my readers appreciate the importance of some of the by-products of this tremendous global war? Right now, I have in mind the situation with regard to our legislators, which includes quite a few members serving in the armed forces of the United States. Except for the fact that the Republican party holds firm control of the Senate by a 26 to 14 margin, there would be loud squawks about the two absent Democratic Senators, Joseph L. Murphy and Chester A. Dolan, both officers in the air service. Under the circumstances, it is quite possible that nothing will be done about the matter. The House membership is so huge—240—that it is more than likely that nobody will get very much excited about this problem. Speaking of the House, it must have thrilled the former associates of former Rep. Otis M. Whitney of Concord to read in the papers recently of his splendid service in Guadalcanal. Whitney has risen in rank from a First Lieutenant in the State Guard to a Lieut.-Colonel of Marines. Some jump. It was my pleasure to know him rather intimately when he first entered the House. Even then, he was a close student of military affairs and a regular attendant at summer military camps. Here, as everywhere, experience counts. May he come back to us all safe and sound, when this bloody business is over.

Now, what I am getting at is just this; our Legislature can, of course, get along reasonably well without the services of a score or more of its members. Even so, the loss of our legislators should be cut below 200 there would still be sufficient manpower to handle all necessary legislative matters. The trouble is that a good many cities and towns might find themselves without any representation whatsoever. In other words, it is the local angle rather than the state-wide angle which might cause real difficulty. More about this later.

In the Future

Among the topics which I am now preparing for discussion are the following: the rumored shake-up in the Cabinet in Washington, the new Chairman of the Republican National Committee, to be chosen on Dec. 7, I believe, the Democratic jitters as the party of the Donkey looks ahead to 1944, our incoming state legislature and the investigation of the Cocanut Grove fire.

* A War Economy Message *

from NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

"Eternal Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty"

A series of War Economy Messages, sponsored by the Newton League of Women Voters as a contribution to the National Defense-Victory program for elimination of waste, conservation of resources, efficient use of buying power and an understanding of business-consumer policies.

BRAKES ON INFLATION

The underlying principles of War Economy are based on Supply and Demand.

Half our efforts are expended directly for the war effort. One-half of all goods produced are taken by the Army and Lease-Lend—the other half is available for civilian consumption.

There has been an increase of 33 per cent in earnings in the past year; meaning that there is approximately $10,000,000 more free money in Massachusetts alone, that can be spent for food, clothing and household equipment.

With only one-half the worldly goods available for civilian use and one-third more money on hand to buy this reduced amount of goods, the ratio between supply and demand becomes unbalanced, and inflation occurs.

Inflation occurs when we have more money and less goods; the buying competition increases, people bid against each other and the producer raises the price and sells to the highest bidder.

Inflation Is Dangerous

1. It hinders war production by encouraging speculative hoarding of essential materials in the hope that prices will rise more, and by providing a fertile ground for labor disputes as workers ask for pay increases to meet the higher cost of living.

2. It leads to lack of unity among groups in the country as wage-earners, salaried persons, farmers, civil servants, each try to put themselves into a better position as prices rise, often at the expense of other groups.

3. It increases the cost of war because dollars won't buy as much. Taxes, already burdensome, will become more so.

4. It will make the United States weak after the war. The deflation which will set in when the government stops buying war materials will be more severe, prices will fall fast, people will be thrown out of work, and the United States will be so concerned with its domestic reconstruction that it will not be in a position to give world leadership.

But Inflation Can Be Controlled

To date, where the government has wanted to prevent excessive price rises, ceilings have been fixed at levels above which prices may not rise. In order that goods under price ceilings shall go where they will help most toward winning the war, the government has fixed the amounts of some scarce goods which the people or industries may have.

Therefore, new emphasis will be placed on efforts to control inflation by decreasing the amount of money which the people have to spend on the diminishing supply of non-war goods.

Some of the purchasing power in people's pockets has already been drained off through (1) increased taxes; (2) purchase of War Bonds not with savings or borrowed money, but with current earnings; (3) the purchase currently of government notes which may be applied against future income taxes, thus paying future taxes out of weekly or monthly income.

To limit consumer credit the Federal Reserve Board has restricted installment buying.

To limit purchasing power created by the extension of bank credit, the Federal Reserve Board has required member banks to increase the amount of money which they keep in the Federal Reserve Banks, thus making less money available for loans.

What More Could the Government Do?

It might intensify methods already used to draw off surplus purchasing power such as (1) broadening the tax base and increasing the rate of income taxes and (2) increasing other types such as corporation, excess profit and sales taxes.

It might evolve new methods such as (1) collecting income taxes currently by withholding the tax at its source thru payroll deductions so that the tax will be paid during that year rather than during the next; (2) establishing a forced savings plan through which people would be required to lend money to the government, the money to be returned from revenue collected after the war; (3) establishing policies regarding wages and profits which would keep each from rising and thereby from contributing more purchasing power.

It might take further steps to reduce credit expansion by such means as (1) limiting consumer credit through restrictions on charge accounts; (2) requiring still larger bank reserves.

To establish controls will take courage on the part of the Administration and the Congress which they might have if they were sure of understanding on the part of the people.

ROTARY CLUB

The speaker at the Rotary Club on last Monday was Mr. Guy H. Nason, manager of the Hood Rubber Export Department, who through his numerous trips to the Orient is familiar with that part of the world. Mr. Nason spoke on "India."

In brief Mr. Nason pointed out that while we know little about India yet due to recent events India has become very important to the United States and the world. In attempting to answer the question as to what is to become of India the speaker indicated many things which complicate the answering of that question. While India is only half the area of the United States yet her population is three times that of our country or 20 per cent of the total population of the globe. Unlike the other major English possessions she differs in race and religion and language from the British people. Her population represents 4 separate races with an illiteracy of 92 per cent. England controls 60 per cent of the area and the population while the remaining 40 per cent consists of 562 States with vast differences in customs, languages and religions. Mr. Nason raised the question "If independence is offered to whom shall it be offered, with all the great differences which India presents?"

The speaker indicated that in his judgment it was not a question for the United States to attempt to settle, but rather one which India and England should settle.

Today a new flag was unfurled above our plant

Half-measures in an all-out war are not enough. So each and every one of us — not just 99% — but 100% of Earnshaw's workers have pledged themselves to buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day. And we're going to keep on buying them until victory is won!

Because of this pledge, the Treasury Department has awarded us the blue flag with the Minute Man upon it. That flag is our answer to the flags that bear swastikas... our challenge to the mockery of false rising suns. It's the vivid symbol of our stand in the fight against cruelty and slavery — the trademarks of a treacherous enemy. We stand united... determined and unafraid.

Our flag, and the pledge it stands for, is the only way that we at home can tell our men in uniform:

"We're with you—every one of us. No matter how long the road, or hard the struggle... we will not let you down!"

You are cordially invited to attend SPECIAL GOSPEL SERVICES

Held Nightly except Friday at 8:00 p.m.

Store—317 Washington Street, Newton
By EVANGELIST SAM McEWEN, of Virginia, and JOHN M. BERNARD, Newton, Mass.

Services for children, Friday 7:30 p.m.

Nations as well as individuals have felt God's chastening hand because of their neglect of His holy word. So let us spend an hour together nightly, seeking to learn His mind in connection with the day we are living in. These meetings will NOT be characterized by demands for money or high-pressure methods for professions, nor by hilarity or lightness, but that which becomes the same, solemn preaching of the glorious sin-atoning, soul-saving sacrifice of the LORD JESUS CHRIST. You and your friends are invited to come and hear the GLAD TIDINGS. Christians please pray for this special effort to reach the unsaved. The coming of the Lord is near, our day of service will soon be over. COME AND BRING A FRIEND TONIGHT.

This is our SECOND invitation to Newton friends.

Listen in to Station WORL at 7:45 A.M. and hear Sam McEwen

the burden of the work entailed by the veterans' campaign.

Mr. L. B. Boynton, general manager of Earnshaw Knitting Mills, expressed the appreciation of the management for the 100 per cent cooperation. "Such wholehearted interest in this campaign," he said, "typifies VANTA unity, spirit and devotion."

Mayor Paul M. Goddard of Newton, in addressing the gathering, indicated the pride and satisfaction he and the citizens of Newton felt in the patriotic achievement of Earnshaw and the exemplary backing they were giving to the armed forces.

Rupert C. Thompson, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, said, "The Chamber is deeply gratified that such a prominent manufacturer as Earnshaw is in the front rank of performance—not only industrially, but in patriotic devotion, too."

The Earnshaw Knitting Mills were founded in 1911. For more than a quarter of a century they have been synonymous with quality. Earnshaw revolutionized the design of baby garments. The first no-pins, no-buttons garment for babies was manufactured by Earnshaw. Later, Earnshaw developed Self Help garments for older children, and also sun-suits. National Baby Week was started by Earnshaw for the purpose of fostering better health for babies. In 1920, the Earnshaw Knitting Mills moved to Newton, where they are now located.

Mr. Rawson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine M. Rawson.

MEN'S CLUB OF NEWTON HIGHLANDS

During the recent Monthly Meeting of the Executive Meeting, at the home of Membership Chairman, Joseph A. Spelman, a report of new memberships was favorably received. Since the start of the 1942-1943 Season in October, forty-nine new members have been added to the roster. President Sidney H. Baylor and the other officers feel that this number will be greatly increased before the next Dinner Meeting, December 15th, at 6:30 p. m. at the Parish House, Congregational Church.

tain and the motion was unanimously passed.

The meeting was open to the public and the program included addresses by W. Herrick Brown, New England director of the Industrial Division of the War Production Board, who spoke on the general salvage situation, and Street Commissioner John D. Haughey, who told of the progress of the salvage drive in Newton. The speakers were introduced by John O. Bogardus, president of the association.

Mr. McKay read a letter from John I. Taylor, state salvage director, addressed to the Newton Highlands Garden Club. The letter read as follows:

"My attention has been called to an article in a Newton newspaper which states that your club is turning in an old ornamental fountain for scrap. May I commend you for your patriotic attitude in turning this much needed scrap over to the war effort."

"Scrap such as this is most urgently needed at this time because it can be so quickly processed, and so quickly turned over to the steel mills. As you know, the large quantities of household salvage which we collected during the October drive, while it is excellent material once it has been processed, is difficult and slow to process and cannot be shipped to the steel mills as quickly as we would like. Meanwhile, large bodies of scrap, such as the fountain to which the article refers can be cut up and shipped immediately, and previous to that period during which the household salvage is being processed."

"I know it is difficult for the communities to give up landmarks and mementoes such as this fountain, but I know that you find that the satisfaction in having turned it into guns and shells will more than outweigh sentimental loss."

"Other communities and individuals have from time to time made similar donations and derived great satisfaction therefrom; for example, the hundreds of communities throughout New England who have donated their World War I memorials to make armament for World War II."

"I also understand that you have plans afoot to beautify the place where the fountain now stands. This also seems an extremely worthwhile and farsighted thing to do."

"If we can be of any help to you in disposing of this fountain, please let us know. However, I feel sure that the very capable salvage chairman in Newton, Mr. John Haughey, will be able to take good care of it for you."

"Most sincerely yours,

(Signed) JOHN I. TAYLOR,
Regional Chief, General Salvage Branch, Conservation Division, War Production Board."

"Later I drove a girl named Lane home to Pearl st. about 2 a. m. She'd escaped the fire with her escort. 'The place was jammed,' she told me. 'Tables in the aisles, etc. With her friend she'd been sitting at a table near the rolling stage and 'one second everything was gayety of the highest order—then smoke came from nowhere, followed by flames, an explosion and then the lights went out!' She was willing in the unbearable heat, she continued, as her escort dragged her toward a side door, but remained conscious until the door—which they found locked—was opened from the outside. She will never forget the frightful screams, she finished... Eulah Place, 244 Nevada st. I knew well. An ambitious youngster (21) and a niece of Motorcycle Officer James O'Halloran of the same address, she was planning to join the WAACS. Ethel Baer, a pretty Waltham youngster, worked in an office days and danced in the clubs evenings trying to build herself a niche in the entertainment world. A nice girl, she refused numerous offers of rides home each night, to trolley alone to Newton Corner, in the wee small hours, and then taxi to Waltham with one of us fellows... Loving her work she'd tell us all about it on the way home... Friday night (Sat. 3 a. m.) she made me a mock courtesy at her door, saying laughingly: 'I'll see you tomorrow night—same time.' We watched the half hour trolleys all night until dawn with hearts growing more leaden, but our little dancing friend didn't come home... I learned later that she was rescued but severely injured."

Also, large red, white and blue posters have been posted on church properties throughout Newton. Designed to emphasize the slogan of the United Church Canvass, they are striking reminders to all church members and friends to hold Dec. 6 for the church and "Keep Them Ringing," the church bells of Newton.

Santa Claus Is Not a Fire-Fighter

By all means have a Christmas Tree for the children. BUT—

1. Keep the tree standing in water and as soon as Christmas is over take the tree down.
2. Avoid toys operated with flammable liquids. Celluloid toys burn with surprising ferocity.
3. Use metal tinsel, fake asbestos and powdered mica for snow effects instead of paper and cotton.
4. Take no chances with defective temporary lighting—look over all electric light cords before decorating the tree.
5. Keep combustible materials such as package wrappings, decorations, curtains, etc., away from possible contact with open flames of candles, fireplaces and stoves.

Let's give the children a Merry Christmas, BUT let's make it a safe one.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

About Ration Book Number 2

Ration book two will be used to secure goods under a new system known as the "Point System," which is a program for rationing a group of related similar commodities that can be substituted for one another in actual use. Point rationing will not replace straight rationing of sugar, gasoline and coffee, but will be used for certain new rationing programs, such as meat rationing. Under this system a low point value will be given to a plentiful commodity, and a high value to one that is scarce. Each individual may "spend" his points to buy any of the items in the point-rationed group in any way he likes, but when he has "spent," or consumed, the products represented by his points for the month, he cannot buy any of these items until the next month (or ration period) begins. In this way a scarce product will be kept from vanishing from the market, and at the same time the consumer may exercise a variety of choice in purchases.

Saves Two Youths From Drowning

Metropolitan Officer Effects Rescue With Aid of Ladder

Nearly exhausted by their struggles, two Newton youths were rescued from drowning after they had broken through thin ice on Hammond's Pond, Newton Centre, Wednesday, by the fast action of a Metropolitan police officer.

Trying out the ice for the first time this season, Mario Puzzi, 20, of 126 Carlisle st., and Albert Vespa, 17, of 11 Maplewood ave., both Newton Centre, had reached a point about 50 feet off-shore when both crashed through into deep water.

No one was on the pond near them and the boys struggled and shouted for help for several minutes becoming more exhausted after each futile attempt to heave themselves back on the ice which repeatedly broke under their weight.

Patrolman John J. McLean of the Brighton Speedway station of the Metropolitan district police alighted from a cruising car to ring a box located at Hammond Pond parkway and Boylston st. and heard their cries for aid.

Unable to help them immediately, he shouted to them to hang on a bit longer. Then he raced 200 yards to a house and secured a ladder. By pushing it out over the ice as he lay on his stomach, the police officer managed to reach the youths and pulled them from the water.

As he drove them to their homes, both youths were profuse in their thanks and informed the patrolman that had been a bit later both would have lost their feeble grip on the edge of the broken ice and would have disappeared under the water.

Field, Eagle Scout of Troop 7A, led the group in reciting the Scout Oath. In expressing the pleasure of the Scouts in being permitted to honor the men leaving to join the Army, Scout Fifield said, "We pledge to be ever mindful of the sacrifices you are making and to seek and accept every opportunity to be of service to your loved ones at home."

Mayor Paul M. Goddard addressed the selectees, wishing them "Godspeed." A Leslie Harwood of Board 114 and Arthur A. Hunt of Board 113 also spoke. Chairman Roy Edwards was assisted in distributing traveling kits by Mrs. B. Alden Thresher, Warren W. Oliver and Capt. Nicholas Vedeucio.

Public Hearing To Be Held Dec. 18

To Consider Proposal To Amend Zoning Ordinance

A public hearing will be held at the Newton City Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 18, on the proposed recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen that the Zoning Ordinance be amended to permit light manufacturing in business zones.

The proposed amendment is the direct result of a petition from the Doelam Machine Tool Company of 34 Crafts st., Newtonville, who seek permission to use the former telephone building on Cherry st., West Newton, for manufacturing purposes. This firm is engaged in war work but the nature of the product to be manufactured at the Cherry st. building has not been disclosed.

Before the petition could be granted the Zoning Ordinance would have to be amended giving the aldermen the right to grant petitions for the use of land in business zones for "light manufacturing of a kind not prohibited in manufacturing districts under the provisions of Section 576."

The hearing will be held jointly by the Claims and Rules Committee and the Planning Board with Alderman George E. Rawson presiding.

No More Skating Information Over The Telephone

For many years the Newton Recreation Department has been very glad to answer telephone calls in regard to skating and the condition of the ice and it is with regret that we announce the discontinuance of this service. In the past years when there was only normal business to consider, calls for skating information frequently tied up all telephone lines, temporarily suspending much City Hall business. With the three Draft Boards and numerous Ration Boards added, City Hall calls have increased to such an extent that it will not be possible to give any skating information by telephone.

F. EWING WILSON,
Recreation Commissioner.

$199,600 Set As Budget For Local Community Chest

To meet the basic minimum service needs of the fourteen agencies of the Newton Community Chest and to provide for reserve demands and Chest operation for the coming year, the Board of Directors accepted a budget of $199,600 at its meeting Monday evening.

The budget was presented by Clark E. Woodward, Chairman of the Budget Committee. It represents extended study by this committee of the minimum financial requirements to enable the Newton agencies to carry on their essential programs.

Social conditions brought on by war, it was emphasized, have strained the demands on the agencies which have to meet emergency wartime needs in addition to carrying on their regular services.

Newton's quota of the $7,800,000 goal of the Greater Boston United War Fund was discussed with the Chest directors. The figure for Newton is having considerable study. Mr. Leonard stated, and will be publicly announced in a very few days.

Christmas Carol

Holiday Report: A famous war correspondent, returning from the Solomons, told how our fighting men risk sickness in swampy jungles and brave death from screaming shells.
However, he said they have one great sadness. Everywhere, you'll hear these boys saying: "Wouldn't it be swell to be home for Christmas."

Christmas, 1942: This year, what gift so truly symbolizes
the real spirit of Christmas?
Whether you buy a bond for yourself or the loved ones on your list, you'll get an inner glow in knowing that it will send the things to our boys at war that will send them back to us again.

course we can't bring them home this Christmas, but we can send them shiny new keep them safe for that Christ-will again be peace on earth.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, December 13, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Golden Text is: "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Psalms 62:7). Other Bible citations include: "Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength" (Isaiah 40:28, 29).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual demand, quelling the material, supplies energy and endurance surpassing all other aids, and forestalls the penalty which our beliefs would attach to our best deeds. Let us remember that the eternal law of right, though it can never annul the law which makes sin its own executioner, exempts man from all penalties but those due for wrong doing" (p. 385).

AUTO DEALERS DESERVE TRIBUTE

In war as in peace, the supreme test of all men and all institutions is the sum total of their contributions to the progress and advancement of their fellow men and of the nation as a whole.

By the character of the service they render you will know them; and with this thought in mind, we may well salute some of our soldiers of the civilian front just as we salute our more heroic fighting men of the armed forces.

And everyone who "looks at the record" will understand why.

The Automobile Dealers of America have sold and delivered more than 80,000,000 motor cars and trucks in the last forty-one years.

And, in addition to selling this vast number of new vehicles, they have also taken in trade 125,000,000 used vehicles. They have reconditioned all these millions upon millions of used cars and trucks for new owners. They have resold them, one by one, to other millions of people who also needed personal transportation. And, as a result, they have constantly widened and increased the civilian transportation system of America.

They have helped to bring into being the huge factories, the assembly lines, the processing plants, the intelligent management of the automobile industry which has now "gone to war" with all its technological know-how and all its irresistible production power to speed the defeat of the Axis.

They have helped to forge the greatest single war-machine force in the entire Arsenal of Democracy, not only for America, but for all the United Nations as well.

And now these men are turning their energies to the job of "saving the wheels that serve America" on the home front while our automobile factories are pouring out myriads of weapons to serve our fighting men on all the war fronts of the world.

32,000,000 motor cars and trucks serving America! Vital cars and trucks—hard-working, time-saving cars and trucks—irreplaceable cars and trucks! Serving agriculture, serving essential industries, serving an entire nation at war! These vehicles must be kept rolling (for there won't be any more for the duration), and exactly 81

It's Home Sweet Home Now!

Hour after hour and day after day, Home becomes closer and more important to each and every one of us.

To the Soldier, Sailor and Marine, Home is the inspiration that leads him on to battle, the promise of a bright American future.

Now, with more Boston Edison customers spending long hours at war production work and long evenings at home, good lighting is a vital necessity. In many homes, people are using their eyes as much as one-third more. That means more need for good light to guard against eyestrain. Here are some simple suggestions on how to get the most light from your lamps:

1. Wash lamp bulbs and reflector bowls frequently. In many cases you can get from 25% to 30% more light!
2. Replace darkened lamp bulbs with fresh bulbs. Darkened bulbs waste electricity.
3. Fill all empty sockets with the right size bulbs.
4. Replace dark or yellowed shades with light ones and brush them frequently.
5. Arrange your lamps and furniture so each lamp can provide good light for several people. A difference of 12 inches from the lamp to the book you're studying can cut the amount of light by as much as 50%.

AUTO DEALERS DESERVE TRIBUTE

He is the sole hope of our civilian transportation system today, and in the future. He is the life-guard for your car or truck—my car or truck—and all America's cars and trucks. He is our Emergency Service Engineer for the duration.

And as everybody knows, the Automobile Dealers of America are stepping up to this job in a way that has won the wholehearted respect and admiration of the entire country.

With the modern shop facilities they have created—with the skilled mechanics they have trained—with the special tools and equipment they have accumulated—and with years of know-how in their heads—they have set up a mighty instrument of repair and restoration against the wear and tear that are striking at the vitals of our civilian transportation system.

They are making it their task, their objective, to "save the wheels that serve America."

And we can bank on them to win the "Battle of Civilian Transportation" one hundred per cent if we give them any support at all.

They will help us to get the last possible mile of service out of our cars and trucks which are so vital to victory, just as they are helping to salvage the last ounce of scrap rubber and metal, buy the last possible War Bond, and—in many cases—giving their last sons of military age to the armed forces to aid America's war effort.

—Dr. Howard M. LeSourd, dean of the Boston University Graduate School, spoke on "Lest We Forget" at the Christmas party of the Professional Women's Club of Boston.

NUTRITION COURSES ORGANIZE IN NEWTON

Several nutrition classes will be started early in January throughout the Newtons, and applicants may enroll now by telephoning the Red Cross Chapter House, Lasell 6000, any day from 10 to 4. It is planned that the classes so located that access to them will be easy, in spite of increasing transportation difficulties.

Mrs. George Hinman, chairman of Nutrition, explains that this standard course of 20 hours prepares for three services:

1. Helps in planning and buying of food for the family meal. Emphasis is to be placed on (a) planning meals ahead in order to ensure proper food values; (b) shopping with skill, and showing how and what to substitute; (c) being a detective for hidden food values, thus stretching that food dollar to its very limit; and (d) preparing the food so that the family is served as large a proportion of the vitamin content as possible.

2. Prepares for community service through work at the Newton Hospital and the Nutrition Aides Corps. The Hospital is in dire need of volunteers in the dietary department, and is finding the Nutrition Aides of inestimable value in serving food, to both patients and staff. The standard nutrition course is a pre-requisite for this training.

3. Gives the necessary background for Canteen workers, who prepare food in quantity.

"Women of Newton," concludes Mrs. Hinman, "Here is a challenge to you as home-makers to gain a better knowledge of food values and, thus, do your part in the war effort."

Centre Business Men's Association

Carrying on Work

The Newton Centre Business Men's Association is still in existence and operating when its services are needed. These are days when after-work meetings and social get-togethers are ruled out by the pressure of other civic interests and civilian work. This is as it should be.

The By-laws of the Association require an Annual election of officers and Directors each year and until such change is made, the present electorate continues in office. It has been suggested to the officers that they continue to serve for an indefinite term. They are willing to do so if it meets with the approval of the membership at large. If a change is desired, the President will be pleased to appoint a nominating committee to select new officers and directors to be presented at a meeting of the members called for the purpose of an election.

In the past year, the Association has been engaged in the following activities and accomplishments:

Conducted a public meeting with the officials of Newton ARP to plan for the defense of the stores, their customers and their personnel.

Opposed making Sumner st. a one-way street on the grounds of discrimination and public service.

Sponsored the white safety markings on Langley rd. and Sumner st.

Approved the change of timing of the traffic light at Beacon st., Sumner st., and Langley rd. intersection.

Endorsed the extension of Middlesex and Boston bus service from Newton Centre to Waban via Beacon st.

Co-sponsored a children's Halloween party at the Mason School, which was part of a city-wide effort to establish safety and order.

Sponsored the new bicycle rack, built and maintained by the Street Department at the corner of Beacon and Centre sts. The duplication of this in other business centers will lead to more safety and less damage.

The foregoing report is due the members of the Association. It is indicative, we believe, that the value of the work done warrants the continued operation of the Association during these times.

Writes Tribute To Uncle Sam

The following tribute to Uncle Sam, reprinted from the Boston Post of Nov. 11th was written by Abraham C. Webber, former District Attorney of Suffolk County. Mr. Webber who is a Newton resident, was formerly chairman of the Public Utilities Commission and a member of Mass. Board of Tax Appeals. He is the author of "Principles of Public Utilities Regulations." Because of the widespread favorable comment that the article received, it is reprinted here.

"No matter how we may figure it, we receive far more in our lives than we give to the State.

"In these days of global conflict we look to our government for protection from the enemies of mankind. Our health is guarded from the spread of disease; from the adulteration of food. In many ways our safety is watched over, when we travel, and when we are at home.

"The greed and avarice of the profiteer is curbed, and the supply of the necessities of life is made to move to us without interruption. "Government is always on the alert that our possessions shall not be taken from us by violence and by fraud. It establishes public institutions to whom we can safely entrust our savings until we need them. We are insured against industrial accidents. We are insured against the horror of poverty in times of unemployment; and by pension to ease the heart-rendering anxieties of old age.

No Cause to Grumble

"Taxes alone, however burdensome to some of us for the moment, are but a small token of appreciation. Our country has a call on all we have—even life itself. Without the shielding hand of government, opportunity to make, and to hold, the fruits of our labors, come to naught, and the enjoyment of the many luxuries and comforts and conveniences, and the opportunity to do good, that money may bring, would hardly be possible.

"Education, full freedom of public expression and thought, and of religious worship, labor's right to organize, are further treasures to a nobler and happier existence for everyone, and the means to our full self-development.

"The possession of these treasured privileges should be appreciated by the mere thought of their denial in other lands. In the multiplicity of laws, in the numerous restraints not to do as we please, let us see only a larger freedom for the greatest number. More law may mean more liberty for all, rather than for a few.

"We are true debtors to the State and nation, whatever century we may find it advisable to voice. Let all of us be truly thankful. We have no cause to grumble. Let us constantly remind ourselves of what we owe, and not what the government owes us, that it may give birth to and foster a manly sense of duty. Year after year, let our new-born fervent faith in, and unshaken loyalty to, our glorious democratic institutions."

BETTER HOME INSULATION IS VITAL PART OF WAR EFFORT

There is one sure way in which every home-owning family can contribute to the winning of the war, and this is in fortifying the home against fuel waste by means of insulation, storm doors and windows, and weatherstripping. Northeastern Homes Foundation points out. The Foundation calls attention to the availability of FHA-plan loans for fuel conservation purposes, and to the fact that such loans have been exempted from the Federal Reserve Board's consumer credit regulations and may run for as long as three years.

"There have been so many reports on restrictions of home building and on control of lumber for war needs that many people have come to believe that the simplest kind of building, as in maintenance and improvement of existing homes, is out for the duration or is in some way unpatriotic," says Paul S. Collier, Foundation Director. "As a matter of fact, it is a disservice to the war effort to neglect home upkeep and improvement, particularly when this neglect runs counter to such vital war measures as fuel conservation. All Government agencies concerned are supporting the program designed to stop the waste of precious fuel through heat-leaking roofs, walls, windows and doors.

"Also, new building in the form of a simple garage may help conserve rubber, without using critical materials. War food production requires additional storage buildings, and lumber may be released for these purposes. The home owner now planning for a backyard Victory Garden next year may face the problem of providing a picket fence to protect it. His local retail lumber dealer is the authority on availability of the material and Government requirements on supply."

Peck Lumber Co., your hometown lumber merchant, is your "doctor" on all building questions. He knows what the Government wants you to do in wartime home conservation and how you can do it.

Storm Sashes Save Tons of Coal

No one ever saw a string of loaded coal cars 3,365 miles long, even if some of the freights were wait for at crossings these days do seem to stretch out that far. Impossible as such a quantity of coal seems, it is the approximate amount which is wasted annually in the United States in heat loss through window openings unprovided with storm sashes.

In its 1940 survey, the Bureau of Census issued the figure of 27,333,424 as the number of houses in 39 states where the climate makes double glazing necessary for comfort. Multiplying this number of residences by five, the number of tons of coal used on the average in each dwelling annually, we obtain the figure of 136,667,120 tons required to heat these homes.

Reducing these astronomical figures to individual households, Mr. Edwards, President of the Basely Lumber Company, says that saving 25 per cent of one's fuel consumption would amount to about two tons per family in Newton. This appreciable saving will pay for a storm window program in four years or less, according to the dealer.

"Of course, you can't see the heat seeping out around your single glazed windows," says Mr. Edwards, "but tests show that it is just as certainly lost. We know, too, that when the thermometer registers zero and the inside temperature is 70 degrees the room side of a single pane of glass is only 17 degrees and naturally acts as a cooling agent. Multiply this one instance by the number of window openings in your home, and you will easily understand why your furnace eats a lot of coal while your rooms remain drafty."

Mr. Edwards or one of his representatives will be glad to call at your home and give an estimate on fitting window areas with double glass insulation, and more fully explain the benefits derived from storm sashes and doors.

Newton High

Monday, December 7, was Pearl Harbor Day. At Newton High School it was also American Flag Day. Everyone, pupils and teachers, wore the national colors. The Newton Trade School printed posters and small flags, which were distributed to pupils. The sale of war stamps and bonds far exceeded that of any previous Monday. In every way the school displayed its patriotism and showed that it "Remembered Pearl Harbor."

At Thursday's December 3, all boys interested in skiing were invited to attend the meeting of the ski squad. When Swiss government ski training pictures were shown, the general feeling was that it couldn't snow too soon.

At this month's meeting of the Legislature the motion was made and carried that the Legislature appropriate money to pay for the school's Service Flag, which hangs in the front corridor of Building 3. The flag has one star for each member of the faculty now in the armed service.

These barriers are similar to those used in the nation's many training centres.

During the Legislature meeting last Wednesday, the following amendment to the Constitution was adopted: "Section 3-A vacancy in the office of President of the Associates should be filled by the succession to the Presidency of the Boys' Vice-President if the previous President was a boy; by the Girls' Vice-President if the previous President was a girl."

Nine teachers of English represented Newton at a Harvard conference Dec. 5 on the training of secondary school teachers.

A SUN ROOM FOR SOLDIERS

The Station hospital at Camp Devens extends for half a mile. Forty-three wards lead off this long corridor, and at the end of each corridor is a bare room enclosed with glass. Every hour of every day boys are brought into the hospital sick or injured, and as they recover they go to this sun room looking for comfort; a place to read, play games or write a letter home. Without furniture these rooms offer little. The Newton Community Club wishes to furnish one of these rooms with comfortable arm chairs and lamps, a card table and stationary chairs and a big table on which to write letters, with colorful draperies at the windows and linoleum on the floor. The cost is $250.00 a room. Part of this money was raised at the last meeting of the Community Club but more is needed.

Each one of you reading this, send your check or donation to the Treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Ladd, 42 Huntington rd., Newton, made out to Newton Community Club.

You men, who saw service in the last World War, remember how cold and barren four walls can be without furnishings. Give!

RUTH V. MACNEIL,
Chairman of Sun Room Committee.

Aldermen Turn Down Petition to Use Metal Garage for Truck Storage

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night a petition of the Star Market Company for permission to use a metal garage at 448 Newtonville ave. for storing two trucks, was rejected, following a hearing at which John Munger, the petitioner, had explained that government officials had asked the concern to keep their trucks in A-1 condition.

Chairman Rawson of the Claims and Rules Committee explained that the Board could not legally grant the petition unless a zoning change is made as the location is in a private residence district.

An appropriation of $500 for automobile maintenance for the Police Department was passed by the Board, for repairs necessitated by accidents. Appropriations of $500 for the City Hall telephone account and $65 for the License Board for the purchase of applications were also passed.

On the Mayor's recommendation for an appropriation of $197.67 for two weeks' vacation pay for three firemen employed at the Water Department pumping station the board voted "no action necessary."

An offer of A. L. Ball to pay $100 for a city owned lot of land on Beethoven st., was rejected. The following offers were accepted:

Daniel W. Rufo, $300 in behalf of his mother, for city-owned land at 17 Chandler st., Newtonville; John J. Mitchell, $300 for a lot on Adams ave., West Newton; Frank Rose, for land at 39 Rowena rd., Newton Centre, in exchange for other land; lot $202.65 and another lot, $250.

A favorable vote was taken on the following applications for certificates of incorporation:

Don J. Edwards, 8 Devon ter., Newton Centre, "Oil Heat Institute of New England, Inc."

Alice J. Warren, 301 Otis st., West Newton, and Mabel T. Eager, 49 Seminary ave., Auburndale, "Friends of the Deaconess Hospital, Inc."

Alderman John Temperly who about a year ago charged that the City had wasted much money in the construction of a new drain on Winter st., Newton Upper Falls, brought up the subject again stating that a resident of the street had called his attention to the fact that the cellar of her home had been flooded despite the fact that there are two drains on the street.

The board voted to authorize the Public Buildings Department to raze the dwelling house at 4 Terrace ave., Newton Highlands because of the failure of the owner to comply with an order of the Board to repair or remove the building which had been adjudged dangerous, and the sum of $65 was appropriated for the cost of razing.

The board also voted to adjudge the vacant dwelling at 251 Auburndale ave., to be a "nuisance and dangerous" following a hearing at which the owner, Walter White, had stated he intended to improve the property. He admitted that the house had been vacant since 1934 but declared it to be structurally sound.

Wilfred H. Crawford of 100 Erie ave., was drawn as a member of the Grand Jury at the Superior Court, Cambridge, for 1943. The following were drawn as traverse jurors: for civil business, first session, Superior Court, Cambridge were James W. Daniels, Jr., 17 Lendard st., Eldridge, Wason, 21 Allen st., Boston, P. Regan, 89 Erie ave.; for civil business, second session, John A. White, 52 Puritan rd.; Theodore R. Burke, 83 Kaposia st., and Harold W. Cheney, 1478 Beacon st.; for criminal business, first session, Raymond J. Cushman, 1563 Beacon st., and Floyd H. Couchman, 30 Allen ave.

Dimout Regulation Not to Interfere With Holiday Church Services

New England's dimout regulations will not interfere with church services Christmas Eve or New Year's Eve. United States Religious Director Joseph M. Loughlin said recently.

New England's Civilian Defense Chief asked, however, for the elimination of special lighting effects used in churches to illuminate stained glass windows.

Loughlin said: "There is no reason to believe the dimout regulations now in effect throughout New England will interfere with church services on Christmas Eve or New Year's Eve. For that matter, I know of no reason why any night church services should not be held as usual in the dimout area."

I should like, however, to have church authorities bear in mind that light emitted from stained glass windows should not be any more than that cast from the windows of a home where curtains are drawn three-fourths down. When the light is brighter on the stained glass windows, the light sources should be so shielded to give the same result as those in homes.

"We are asking for the elimination of special lighting effects used to illuminate stained glass windows in churches."

Alderman Carl F. Schipper, Jr., Resigns; George L. Curtis Named Successor

Carl F. Schipper, Jr., alderman-at-large from Ward 2, submitted his resignation to the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on Monday evening. He has been commissioned a lieutenant, senior grade, in the U. S. Navy and will be assigned to the judge advocate's department.

Mr. Schipper who resides at 47 Trowbridge ave., Newtonville, is 38 years of age and single. He has been engaged in the practice of law in Boston.

The resignation was accepted with "extreme regret" on motion of Alderman George E. Rawson who spoke of the excellent service Mr. Schipper has rendered as chairman of the finance committee.

George L. Curtis of 77 Walden st., Newtonville was selected to succeed Mr. Schipper as alderman-at-large. According to custom he was chosen to fill the vacancy by the two remaining aldermen from Ward 2, Albert P. Everts and Fred C. Alexander. The formal election will be held at the next meeting of the Board on Dec-

MARINE CALLS PARENTS FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Ide of 46 Larchmont rd., Waban, have received a message from their son, Private Frank S. Ide, who is in the Naval Hospital at San Diego, California, recovering from a shrapnel wound in his leg.

Private Ide who enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps on December 26, 1941, was a member of the original detachment which landed on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands.

On the night of October 21 when he and 12 other wounded Marines, with a colonel and a major were being evacuated from the island, the plane was forced down and the crew and passengers had to take to rubber rafts. After spending 11 days on a coral reef during which time they lived on emergency rations, they were rescued off the coast of New Zealand by a Navy ship.

When able to travel, Private Ide expects to get a furlough. His two brothers are also serving in the armed forces.

Salvation Army Seeks $6000 Here

"Our people are grateful for the fine response by Newton friends in our effort to have all of Newton folk hand or mail their donations to the campaign treasurer, in the Salvation Army's annual appeal in Newton. We'd like to have as near a 100 per cent personal delivery of donations to William H. Cahill, treasurer of the Newton Trust Co., at Newton Centre, as possible said William A. Nicol, public relations secretary of The Army."

Presently the names of the collectors will be made known through State Representative Douglas B. Francis, who heads the sponsoring committee. Then the collection force will not call on any but those not already on the list referred to above.

While the appeal effort continues in Newton, plans are made to bring to those who need aid—a happy Christmas season. In Newton this work is carried on by the local emergency fund of The Salvation Army. In Boston money for this same work is found through the many Christmas kettles that are placed at many points in Boston, as well as by money sent along for this purpose by old friends of The Salvation Army.

According to Mr. Nicol no shut-ins known to the officers of The Salvation Army will be forgotten and that no homeless man will be neglected as the Christmas noon meal time comes along in Boston.

CIVILIAN INTERNEES NOW REACHED BY RED CROSS

The American Red Cross has just issued a bulletin which states that the U. S. War Department has received a cable from Tokyo, giving an official list of civilian internees in Manila, and the Philippine Islands. Reassuring reports of conditions in internment camps have been released. It is said that as early as June 1942, a self-governing committee of internees was functioning efficiently in regard to matters of food, health, sanitation, recreation and education.

Mail for persons listed in an internment camp in Manila can now be sent, and Mrs. Cecil Clark of the Home Service Department of the Newton Red Cross says that her committee will gladly advise anyone who would like to know further details of this service.

Newton Barbers Attending Class

A number of barbers from Newton are taking classes in barber science held every Monday night at 809 Washington st., Newtonville, according to Anthony J. Raciti, field representative of the Associated Master Barbers of America, which is now observing the 400th anniversary of the year when King Henry VIII of England gave the first professional standing to barbers.

ington st., West Newton; John MacDonald, 855 Washington st., Newtonville, and Paul B. Gatten, 85 Union st., Newton Centre.

The purpose of the barber science classes is to give barbers an opportunity to study and learn new scientific methods in hair, scalp and face treatments. They are a part of the educational program of the Associated Master Barbers of America, which is now observing the 400th anniversary of the year when King Henry VIII of England gave the first professional standing to barbers.

Now that We're at War . . .

What About Advertising?

In 1917 during the last war, this group continued to advertise their products and services:

Sunkist Oranges
Eastman Kodak
Coca-Cola

Phoenix Hosiery
Corona Typewriters
Wrigley's Gum

Gillette Razors
Whitman
and many others

This group began new advertising ventures in 1917:

U. S. Rubber Co.
General Tire Co.
Lucky Strike Cigarettes

Pepsodent Tooth Paste
California Prune Growers' Assn.
Eversharp Pencils and a host of others

This group quit advertising in 1917:

Pearline
Pear's Soap

Sweet Caporal
Cigarettes

Sapolio
Cottolene

Some tried to stage comebacks later. They spent a lot of money trying to recapture public fancy, but were unable to do so. Their effort was wasted because new and aggressive companies had moved in and won the public through advertising.

A Merry Christmas

Once again, as has been true for centuries, there approaches the birthday of the Christ Child. Once again we, who have faith in our heart, who have hope for the future, who have an undying love for God Almighty, know that even in these troublesome times, peace will again come to this Earth and that Man will come to his senses. We do not advocate a peace at this time until all those who have been, and are, opposed to the Will of God and of his Supreme Being, are crushed beyond all ability to ever arise again and burden the peoples of this Earth with their selfishness, their unchristianity and their lust for power and force above the principles of God, and are forever subjugated, never more to rise and torture the human race of all the continents.

Instead of writing "Mein Kampf," or trying to surpass by greatness that is Rome, how much better would they have been, and the World, had they taken time to read the story of Bethlehem and the Little Child that was born these centuries ago and who since that time all decent men and women have come to revere and love for his self-sacrifices, for us who live now and for those who lived before us and for those who will live after us. We need not mention or consider their "allies," the heathens of the "rising sun," but what a mockery it is that so-called Christian men and women, of the other two parties of the so-called Axis, should subject themselves to the partnership of heathens.

Let not any of my readers believe I possess bitterness and hatred in my heart. That is not God's teaching! But when I think of our Lord dying on the Cross for the sins of mankind, only to have Satan in his three inhuman likenesses now on earth, strive to undo the good which Almighty God has performed, I weep for the sacrifices and the suffering which our Almighty God went through for us.

But the evil spirits of force have never succeeded nor will they now. You and I have the faith, the faith which our religion has taught us (no matter what that religion may be) that sooner or later, right and truth and decency will prevail.

This is not going to be a Merry Christmas for many as we have learned to term each past Christmas. But it is going to be a Just Christmas for we believe in God, we know that right will prevail. We know that the sacrifices which our boys are making, yes with their lives, for us who live, will not be a repetition of 1918 and the treaty which followed.

I say Merry Christmas to all my readers, for God who sacrificed so much for all of us, would not have it otherwise. We, who are here, happily, soberly, and hopefully await Christmas Morn, that we may go to our respective churches and give thanks that we believe in God, that we have trust in God and that God is our hope for the better future, always mindful of the sacrifices He made for us, and man. In this year of 1942, I cannot, and will not, believe otherwise.

NEWTON HOSPITAL BLOOD BANK

The building of a reserve blood bank at the Newton Hospital is a move which should receive wholehearted support from the 85,000 people which the hospital serves. The project has been most carefully planned by the hospital management and surgical staff. It has been implemented by the donation, by the Hospital Aid Association, of a specially designed ice chest which is capable of preserving a large amount of blood plasma indefinitely.

In case of attack, or local disaster, it will protect the Red Cross blood bank from diverting any of its precious supply from the use of our armed forces. The extensive and effectual use of plasma in treating many victims of the Coconut Grove disaster has demonstrated that the accumulation of plasma supplies by local hospitals which have the proper facilities for the work is imperative everywhere. Let those who are eligible to make blood donations, especially those who have as yet made no donation, make their contribution now.

It is a patriotic privilege and a civic duty.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

Throughout the ages young men have sprung to arms to defend their country. Mothers and sisters have silently but proudly shed tears at the parting. Eloquent editorials have been written—stirring farewell speeches have been made. Martial music has quickened the pulse. Prayerful hope that the loved ones would soon return safely was in every heart.

And now the young women are privileged to exercise their equal rights. The ever-increasing uniforms are a part of our changed daily life and accepted as the usual rather than the novelty of the very recent past. Possibly in lesser degree than the young men, dangers and discomforts and casualties will be the lot of these young women, but their answering the call to duty arouses the same emotion in a mother's heart—silent, but proud tears.

The accepted pattern of sermons, treatises, or editorials is to build up from the least consequential to the crowning climax. These few paragraphs are purposely in the reverse order because it is more emphatic to focus attention first on the real and the human sacrifices, and by contrast shrink the material contributions to insignificance.

The Fountain of Age

And so prosaic scrap is disclosed as the theme of this editorial. There may be some—although few we hope—who cling to some keepsake, some memento or some now-unneeded article, metallic or otherwise, which is rich in memories and sentiment, serving now no useful purpose, but which would be of tremendous value in saving the lives of the young men and women defending us—yes in protecting all of us who must remain in our civilian duties, apparently, but in fact falsely, secure from harm.

Full and commendable recognition then to the unanimous vote of the members of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association which drafted the fifty-one-year-old public fountain to spray Tokio with more effect than drops of water.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Mass. Federation of Taxpayers Luncheon

Over 1,300 tickets were sold for the Eleventh Annual Luncheon of the Mass. Federation of Taxpayers at the Hotel Statler last Saturday. The stellar attraction was a distinguished pair of United States Senators, Hon. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Hon. Harry S. Truman of Missouri. However, those who expected to hear a typical Democratic eulogy of the Washington administration must have been greatly surprised. Senator Byrd, in particular, assailed the New Deal and all its works with gusto. I doubt if any hard-boiled, old-guard Republican could have exposed the fallacies of the New Deal more effectively. As a matter of fact, I felt sorry for our new State Treasurer, Francis X. Hurley, who appeared to be having a trying time at the head table, registering proper enthusiasm over the remarks of the distinguished Democratic Senators, without behaving too much like a staunch anti-New Deal Republican. When Senator Byrd had used up the time allotted him, he announced he would wind up his address, but the crowd pleaded with him to continue. He did. As a result, the meeting did not adjourn until nearly 4 p. m. By the time the Virginia Senator finished, it was apparent that he saw no hope for economy or relief from the sins of typical bureaucracy as long as the present administration continued on its present course. He visualized some form of national socialism as an aftermath of the war unless Congress takes the proper steps to preserve the American way of life and the system of private enterprise, which has brought our country to its present high level. He was especially concerned about the $25,000 income limit, recently established by executive decree, after Congress would have nothing to do with the proposition. He reminded us that this is a direct steal from the platform of the Communist party and he predicted that the incoming Congress, with its much larger Republican membership, would make an earnest effort to remove this income ceiling. (Loud applause, even from those of us who don't have to worry a bit about that particular restriction.)

Senator Truman got off to a good start by telling his audience that Boston was no means as cold and aloof as some Westerners claimed. He announced he had been in private to meet a Lodge, a Lowell and a Cabot earlier in the day and that all three had actually spoken to him. Later on, he shocked us by calmly stating that, in his opinion, our national debt would very likely reach some $300,000,000 by the time we have wound up the war. Of course, many of us cannot even count that high. Another point which interested us all was that there had been over 100 investigations concerning the conduct of World War I. All of them took place after the war was over and it seemed that very little benefit accrued. It is the job of Senator Truman's committee to carry on investigations while the current war is in progress. Already a great deal of money has been saved, much more will unquestionably be saved before the United Nations are victorious.

Inasmuch as Governor Saltonstall's doctor had ordered him to rest up prior to the convening of the 1943 Legislature, a letter from him was read by Reginald W. Bird, President of the Mass. Federation of Taxpayers, who presided at the luncheon. Then, Lt. Governor Cahill delivered a pungent address of welcome to the visiting Senators. I have never heard him to better advantage. Another excellent speech was made by Norman MacDonald, the man who makes the wheels go around in the Federation. He made some interesting suggestions to those in the audience who have recently been elected to public office. Economy will be the watchword from now on. Incoming officials will do well to paste that thought in their hats.

As a final thought, may I inquire why it is that we in Newton hear so little about our local taxpayers' organization? As a matter of fact, do many of us know how large it is or who the various officers are or just what its program is?

Vandenberg and Bricker and Taft
Will there be a New Deal in the G. O. P.'s 1944 campaign for the Presidency? Already Senator Taft has renounced any ambition to become President, at least in 1944. He has endorsed his own Governor, John W. Bricker, of Ohio. Now the Michigan Senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg, who has been in the thick of things for a long, long time, comes to bat with a statement that he, too, will not run for President in 1944. He goes further than that; he suggests that the next Republican candidate will be a new man and not one of the old war-horses. In other words, Mr. Vandenberg does not care for Wendell L. Willkie. Unfortunately for Mr. Vandenberg, there seem to be quite a few million voters who care much more for Mr. Willkie than they do for the slipping Michigan Senator. Now let's watch for the next move in the attempt to discredit Mr. Willkie and put him out of business, politically speaking.

Campaign Funds
As the postmortems on the November elections gradually subside and the professional politicians go back to their usual routine, one fact intrigues me a great deal. There is considerable discussion about ways and means of raising campaign funds in BOTH parties. There is a disposition to discover some method of tapping the resources of the rank and file, hitherto immune from solicitation.

My mind goes back to the good old days of the Progressive, or Bull Moose party in 1912-1915. It so happens that the writer was the Treasurer of a statewide campaign for raising money from the entire membership throughout the state. Every night for one week I sat in Ford Hall, receiving reports from city and town chairmen from the Berkshires down to the tip of Cape Cod. To say that this experience was thrilling would be a gross understatement. Regardless of weather conditions, party leaders showed up with remarkable regularity each night. And what results had they obtained? In mere size of contributions, there was seldom anything startling to note. However, the grand total of cash and the number of individual contributions flung in each evening was amazing. I have never seen anything to equal it, before or since. Here was a party which meant something definite to ALL its adherents regardless of race, class or creed or position held in the party. No sum was too small to be gratefully received and we shall never lose the democracy for which we are fighting if we take this right away.

The finger points to more government control.

How Can Government Control Be Effective?

Plans should provide for ways of restricting the kinds of jobs workers may take and ways of requiring employers to hire and fire in certain ways. This might mean that:

Safeguards would be set up to protect workers' rights, such as seniority and wage standards.

Safeguards would be set up to protect employers from being saddled with inefficient employees.

Policies would be adopted in regard to unions to protect them and their members if a union man is directed to work in a non-union shop; and to protect a non-union man if he is directed to work in a union shop.

Every worker and employer would have the right of appeal.

One agency would be designated which would have overall supervision on the man-power problem — on the front, in the factory and on the farm.

Should Mobilization be Voluntary or Compulsory

People have the fundamental right to work where they please and we shall lose the democracy for which we are fighting if we take this right away.

People have the fundamental right to work where they please and we shall lose the democracy for which we are fighting if we take this right away.

The finger points to more government control.

How Can Government Control Be Effective?

Plans should provide for ways of restricting the kinds of jobs workers may take and ways of requiring employers to hire and fire in certain ways. This might mean that:

Safeguards would be set up to protect workers' rights, such as seniority and wage standards.

Safeguards would be set up to protect employers from being saddled with inefficient employees.

Policies would be adopted in regard to unions to protect them and their members if a union man is directed to work in a non-union shop; and to protect a non-union man if he is directed to work in a union shop.

Every worker and employer would have the right of appeal.

One agency would be designated which would have overall supervision on the man-power problem — on the front, in the factory and on the farm.

Should Mobilization be Voluntary or Compulsory

Having in mind the welfare of its employees, Moore & Moore, Inc. through Mr. Walter Moore, announced that their store will be closed all day Saturday, December 26th, in order that the clerks may more fully enjoy the holidays. This is the first store in Newton to announce the adoption of this measure, and some other Newton firms including some hardware stores have followed their lead.

Moore & Moore has truly been converted into a Christmas Gift store this year. Counters and shelves are loaded with dolls, toys, games and novelties in such a variety as to compare favorably with some of Boston's larger stores. Their sporting goods department is unusually well stocked with skis and accessories, skates, hockey supplies, sleds, etc. Special emphasis is placed on their skate department and great care is taken in the fitting of shoe skates. Because of their large stock of skates, perfect fittings are assured.

Additional space has been acquired this year by leasing an adjacent store and cutting a door through from the main store. Featured in the new annex are kitchenware and household goods of every description.

A leading National Hardware Magazine will soon publish an article on Moore & Moore's new advertising, which in their opinion is an example of a well planned advertising program.

Mr. Moore stated that despite shortages in many lines of merchandise, sales have been more numerous this season than in any Christmas season since the store was established 24 years ago.

Our plan eliminates the necessity of hurried purchases. You should take plenty of time to select your furniture. For this reason we are open every evening. This enables the entire family to help in the selection of furniture. It's fine, too, everyone feels at ease in the evening—free of business and home care—plenty of time—good fellowship. There's no high pressure selling necessary—it's a self-selling plan—we furnish the information about the furniture—the price will do the selling.

REGARDING OLD LANDMARK

When I read in the paper that the Garden Club of Newton Highlands had requested Mayor Paul M. Goddard to have the fountain at the junction of Walnut and Forest sts. removed, I felt deeply distressed. The fountain really seemed a part of my existence in Newton Highlands. My home being so near to it, I have always enjoyed it. I have lived here 45 years, during all of which time I have been a property owner and taxpayer. I strongly consider the fountain an island of safety for adults and especially for small children going to and from schools.

I drove around and investigated the various scrap yards, which I doubt if anyone who is requesting the scrapping of our fountain has done. I was informed that none of the scrap had been sent away. It has not even been sorted and made ready for emergency shipment. From my point of view, the materials already collected should be used before scrapping our fountain which has been an old landmark for so many years.

I drew up a petition reading as follows: "We, the undersigned property holders and residents of the City of Newton in the section of Forest and Walnut sts., wish to protest the removal of the fountain at the junction of Forest and Walnut sts. We consider it invaluable not only from the sentimental standpoint, but as a safety island at a dangerous corner." Forty-seven persons signed this, all being property owners and residents in sight of or very near to the fountain. There were two who after signing it wished to be released from it. None of the forty-seven considered it an eyesore.

I do not consider myself a slacker or unpatriotic. I have cleaned out attic, cellar, and kitchen of usable materials and continue to contribute pressed tins and tins. There have been 112 pairs of socks knitted and turned in from my home that our service men are wearing.

Now in conclusion, if the iron in this fountain and the one on West Newton Hill at Chestnut and Valentine sts. is needed as scrap to help win this war, I do so, take it by all means, but from the viewpoint of an "eyesore."—No." MRS. F. E. WITHEE

9 Forest st., Newton Highlands

(Editor's Note: We understand that within one hour after the fountain was removed, it was delivered to a Waltham foundry to be processed and with other materials can be converted into one of the following groups of materials: 2,000 steel helmets, 6,000 hand grenades, 375 37 mm. anti-aircraft shells, 250 30 calibre rifles, 100 machine guns, 40 105 mm. shells for a scout car. The base of the fountain, we are told, is to remain where it is, thus the safety island is not being disturbed. We have been informed that many signers of the petition were present at the Improvement Association meeting when it was unanimously voted to scrap the fountain.)

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE TRAFFIC MANAGER OF THE BOSTON ELEVATED

Newton Graphic, Dear Editor:

One afternoon last week I went into the Park Street Station of the Boston Elevated to take a car to Newton Corner. As I waited more than ten minutes for my car, I noticed several cars passing for Kenmore, Opera House and one for Oak Square, which were receiving scarcely any passengers at this station. Finally the Watertown car came along at 2:15 and was immediately filled with little room left even in the aisles.

Shortly after we left the Kenmore Station, a young woman, near me in the crowded aisle, collapsed and had to be assisted to a vacant seat. It turned out that she had just fainted blood at the Red Cross clinic. This incident emphasized the situation in my mind, and as the crowded aisle continued to Newton Corner, I decided that such a condition "between the humps" was due to poor management. Had the Oak Square car, which left five minutes ahead of our car, been going through to Water-town, it would have divided the load and all could have been seated. As it was, people were not taking the Oak Square car because they were going beyond that point. The new cars are fine, but that fact does not excuse the Elevated for making people fill the cars clear to Newton Corner, regardless of the time of day, when the condition could be so easily remedied.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT V. SPENCER

Newtonville, Mass.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS TALK ON COMMUNITY FUND

The Newton Rotary Club held its weekly meeting Monday, Dec. 14, for the one thousandth seventh time.

Mr. Clarence Mease, secretary of Newton "Y", and newly inducted member, gave a very enlightening talk on the Community Chest Drive which will soon begin. He said thirty cents out of every dollar contributed to the Fund will go to U.S.O.; the United Nations Relief, Prisoners of War and such war agencies. The balance goes to agencies engaged in war work on the Home Front. There are from three to four thousand Newton boys in the service. There are families of service men to be helped as well as children of defense workers. The Newton Hospital and Scout organizations, etc., benefit from the Fund.

Mr. Mease pointed out the importance of looking ahead to the new social and economic order that will exist after this war. In helping make possible the work done by the organizations the Community Fund supports, we all become partners in building a better society for the future.

Movies were also shown of the great need for the work that is being done by the Community Chest Fund.

Christian Science

our womanhood that knows and our manhood that does. Some birds in their flight are always led by the female and this leadership is protected, guarded, and defended by the male. So in our individual experience it is our womanhood, our purity, intuition, love, constancy, that leads us out of materialism, and our manhood, our strength, intelligence, energy, which follows and protects by doing or demonstrating all that our womanhood knows. Demonstration always follows the leadership of revelation. Revelation and demonstration, knowing and doing, Science and art, desire and fulfillment, manhood and womanhood, are one, the complete expression of our complete, perfect, Father-Mother God.

Mrs. Eddy states (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 346), "Science and Health makes it plain to all Christian Scientists that the manhood and womanhood of God have already been revealed in a degree through Christ Jesus and Christian Science. His two witnesses. What remains to lead on the centuries and reveal my successor, is man in the image and likeness of the Father-Mother God, man the generic term for mankind."

Earl B. Bourne Is Appointed

Earl B. Bourne of Dane Hill rd., Newton Highlands, has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, according to the announcement of President Norman H. S. Vincent.

Mr. Bourne, a long-time resident of Newton and Waban, is employed in the accounting department of H. A. Johnson Company, well-known food merchants in Boston. He is a graduate of Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, and serves on an advisory committee of the National Office Management Association. As a member of Norumbega Lodge and the Royal Arch Chapter, he is active in Masonic circles. His duties also include that of Post Warden in the ARP arm of Civilian Defense.

In his work with the National Association of Cost Accountants, Mr. Bourne has developed an effective car-sharing program for transporting war industry executives throughout New England to technical meetings and cost forums of the Boston Chapter. In common with other professional societies, the N. A. C. A. in Boston has geared its program closely to the war effort, several of its members serving on a panel of accountants assisting the Cost and Audit Branch of the Navy Procurement Office.

Christmas Carol Service Saturday

The Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, together with Brownies and Cubs, are cooperating in the sponsorship of a Community Christmas Carol Service which will be held at the Newton High School Dickinson Stadium on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19, at 4:15 p. m.

Realizing the tremendous importance of the spirit of Christmas in this war-torn, overworked, present day world, the Girl and Boy Scouts feel that this activity will be most welcome in Newton this year. Basically, there will be no Christmas festivities out-of-doors due to the curtailment of lighting and decorations which usually lend themselves to the cheerfulness and happiness of the season. Instead a dark, somber, prayerful attitude is in the minds of each and every American today.

On this basis each and every citizen of Newton is invited to join together in this non-sectarian but religious service.

Rev. W. H. Shillington of the First Methodist Church, Newton Upper Falls; Father John A. Sheridan, Church of Our Lady, Newtonville; Rev. R. P. McClintock, Church of Messiah, Auburndale, have offered their cooperation in guiding the spiritual part of the program which is as follows:

Two Newton Men Killed In Action

Word has been received this week of the deaths of two Newton young men killed in action in North Africa.

Lieut. (j. g.) Stanton Morgan Amesbury, U. S. N. R., was killed when his plane, one of a naval formation of single fighter planes operating from an aircraft carrier, was shot down over Casablanca.

Lieut. Amesbury had attended Boston University before leaving two years ago to enlist. He was married last March and besides his wife is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury of 19 Berkeley place, Auburndale, and three brothers. He has been buried at Meheria Cemetery, Port Lytaute, Northwest Morocco.

Man and Woman Are Indicted

A man and woman who had secured sums aggregating about $500 from residents of Newton and surrounding cities and towns, were indicted on 11 counts by the grand jury last week, following an investigation by Lieut. Daniel E. Crowley and Sgt. Richard L. Bannon of the Newton police who had received a complaint from Mrs. Olive Bishop of 1900 Washington st., Auburndale, that she had paid a deposit of $27 to the man on an order for coal on which no delivery was made.

In the Middlesex Superior Court on Friday, Frederick A. Emery, 56, of 3 Crawford st., Cambridge, and Mrs. Eleanor McGarr, 48, of 8 Electric ave., Somerville, were ordered to make restitution of the amounts received. Emery was adjudged a common and notorious thief and was sentenced from 4 to 7 years in State Prison. Mrs. McGarr was given 4 years' probation.

The couple were sentenced on the charges of conspiracy and charges of conspiracy were placed on file. They were wanted by the Boston police on similar charges and were turned over to the police of that city to face trial in Suffolk County.

Emery had posed as a man named "MacDougal" representing a "Davis Coal Company of Somerville." The woman took the orders for delivery by telephone at her home. Mrs. Bishop had ordered several tons of coal from them last summer after which Mrs. McGarr called her saying that she must pay a deposit of $27 before the coal could be delivered. Emery went to her home and collected the money and after a long time had elapsed and no coal had been delivered, Mrs. Bishop notified the Newton police.

Leonard, Chief of the Hospital Surgical Staff (left) and Dr. Denton G. Nutter, first assistant in charge of the Hospital Laboratory Clinic, assisted by nurse Sylvia Macleod, perform the painless operation. It is hoped that this attractive patient is the first of several hundred donors to assist this coming winter in building a reserve blood bank at the hospital which will be adequate to take care of any emergency among the 85,000 people of the Newtons and Wellesley without tapping the vital plasma bank now being collected by the Red Cross for the benefit of our overseas forces. Those desiring to cooperate are invited to call the hospital, for appointments and preliminary instructions.

Name Winners of Essay Contest

The Newton Savings Bank, The West Newton Savings Bank and The Newton Centre Savings Bank, sponsors of the recent essay contest on "Know Your Money," take pleasure in announcing the following War Bond and Stamp winners:

First Prize—Miss Frances Shellock, Sacred Heart High School, Newton Centre.

Second Prize—Miss Elizabeth Boudreau, Sacred Heart High School, Newton Centre.

Third Prize—Miss Catherine Del Grosso, School of Our Lady, Newton.

Miss Betty Jewett of the Newton High School won the High School prize.

The three savings banks of Newton wish to publicly thank all those teachers who so freely cooperated in bringing the subject of "Know Your Money" to all the high school pupils in the city of Newton. Although everyone did not submit an essay, the subject was brought home to them at this time in conjunction with the contest and the essays were received from the Newton High School, Sacred Heart High School, Newton Centre, St. Bernard's High School of West Newton, Our Lady High School of Newton and St. Sebastian's Country Day School of Newton.

Most of the essays were high grade and in addition some had very patriotic and timely covers. The three judges, Mr. William H. Rice, President of The Newton Centre Savings Bank; Mr. Roland Gammons, President of The West Newton Savings Bank, and Mr. Charles H. Clark, Vice-President of The Newton Savings Bank, really had a difficult task in determining the winners.

The presentation of the prizes to the first two winners was made at a special assembly of the Sacred Heart High School by Mr. Charles H. Clark, Vice-President of the Newton Savings Bank. This presentation was followed by an address by His Excellency Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, D.D., LL.D. Bishop Cushing congratulated the winners and their teachers for the honor bestowed upon their school in winning two of these prizes. He advised the student body that it was their duty to not only "Know Your Money" to distinguish it from counterfeit, but to know its worth and power by having a savings account.

His Excellency praised the work of the three savings banks in bringing this timely subject to all high schools in the city of Newton. The bishop further advised that the buying of War Bonds and the establishment of a regular savings account in a savings bank was a patriotic, wise and proper thing to do to maintain stability and faith in this country.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

The Newton Rotary Club met at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday, Dec. 21. The Rev. Frederick M. Morris, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church gave a very fine Christmas message.

He traced the development of Christmas from early times when it was a purely pagan festival to the time when its festivities became imbued with the spirit of reverence for the celebration of Christmas.

Mr. Morris deplored the fact that in modern times many people are inclined to be lethargic toward the great value of the spiritual side of life. He believes that America has a God-given destiny to lead the world after this present war but believes her success in doing so depends upon her acceptance of the spiritual values of life.

El Urges Little Riding Between 5 and 6 P.M.

Urges Those Not Obligated To Ride During Those Hours to Get Home Earlier

"Riding on the Boston Elevated Railway has increased drastically. The ban on the sale of gasoline to private motorists will add to an already acute public transportation problem. Accordingly, the City of Boston War Transportation Conservation Committee urges that every person who can possibly do so should avoid traveling on the Boston Elevated Railway during the rush hours, especially between 5 P. M. and 6 P. M.," according to a statement issued by Wm. H. Day, chairman of the committee.

"This is a patriotic necessity. Between 5 and 6 P. M. the Elevated now carries 130,000 passengers over its entire system. All those who now ride unnecessarily in this hour are helping to create a serious transportation problem. They should make a determined effort to change their hours of travel.

"Large groups of employees, including those working in retail stores, insurance companies and for the City of Boston and the Commonwealth of Mass., have already co-operated in the staggering of their working hours. Those employees, however, represent less than one-half of the number actually using the downtown stations of the Elevated in this evening peak hour of riding.

"Here is the transportation problem in a nutshell: on a recent representative day, 56,955 passengers entered the downtown stations of the Elevated from 5 to 6 P. M. Note the distribution from 4 to 7 P. M.

From 4 to 5 P. M. 35,509
From 5 to 6 P. M. 56,955
From 6 to 7 P. M. 27,753

"There is no more room for riders between 5 and 6 P. M. Yet, the number of passengers being carried on the Elevated is increasing daily because of the sharp trend away from private means of transportation.

"Remember, the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington warns that there is no additional equipment available. Thus, the problem is to spread the evening rush hour riding over a longer period to prevent riding conditions which may well become intolerable."

Music School To Be Y.M.C.A. Guests

The All-Newton Music School will be guests of the Young Men's Christian Association of Newton at their Open House Day, Saturday, December 26th. A program of concert music will be presented by students and members of the faculty of the school from 2:30 to 3:30 P. M. followed by a reception with music from 3:30 to 4. During the reception, students and friends of the Music School will be presented to officers and members of the board of trustees and staff of the school in a friendly social hour. A cordial invitation is extended to all to take advantage of the fine musical program and the opportunity to meet with the boys and girls and their friends.

The All-Newton Music School was founded in April 1911, by Elizabeth Fyffe, a gifted Newton woman, who through her vision and years of devotion has brought the school to its present place as a social agency for musical education and character building as well as a center of art and culture in the community. It is felt that one of the greatest contributions the school makes is the creating of situations in which children, youths and adults can work and play together.

The All-Newton Music School is a charter member of the National Guild of Community Music Schools and of the Newton Community Chest.

70 Officers Are Entertained

Community Service Com. Of Waban Are Hosts

Seventy officers in the Armed forces were entertained on Sunday by members of the Community Service Committee of the Waban Neighborhood Club.

The men were greeted at the railroad station at one o'clock by the hostesses who took them to their homes where dinner was served. At 4:30 many attended the Christmas Candlelight service at the Union Church and at 5 o'clock all gathered at the Waban Neighborhood Club where 75 women girls served as junior hostesses. Following two hours of bowling, bridge, ping-pong and other games, supper was served at the club followed by dancing and an informal entertainment by Waban residents.

The committee in charge included: Mr. and Mrs. Roger Salinger, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Root, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tolman, Jr., Mr. Edward H. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. McCutcheon, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton D. St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Musgrave, Mrs. Carl Donnell, Mrs. Edward Presbrey, Mrs. Robert Taylor.

This party was the ninth in a series that has offered homelike Sundays to more than 500 servicemen, both enlisted and commissioned. Many of the hostesses have received letters of appreciation from men now in action who were their guests before leaving.

Incentive Rally Held Tuesday

An Industrial Incentive Rally was held last Tuesday afternoon at the Raytheon Mfg. Co., Chapel st., Newton, attended by workers and executives of the company.

The principal speaker was Lt. Commander Louis H. Brendel of the Incentive Division, Navy Department, Washington. He was introduced by Forestry Beatrice Brooks of Newton. The commander opened his remarks with Hitler's "Today We Rule Germany; Tomorrow, the World," and emphasized the fact that Hitler was serious when he made that statement and included in it the United States with its wealth of materials and industry.

Brendel complimented the workers on the excellence of the work they are doing and told them that it was important that as they do their utmost every day to produce products in quantity and of the highest quality with no unnecessary time off, so that Hitler's boast would be thwarted.

The commander requested that the audience indicate by a show of hands how many of them had brothers, sweethearts, relatives or friends in the service, and nearly 90 per cent indicated that they did. He said it was the duty of the workers to support these men from the front by their diligent efforts so that the war would be speedily concluded and the men be returned to their homes.

Radioman 1st Class Fred LaFortune of the Carrier Wasp, which was sunk in the Pacific, spoke of his experience when his ship went down. He said he was in the water 3 to 3 1/2 hours before being picked up, during which time other ships were dropping depth bombs nearby. He is the father of 5 children, ranging in age from 14 months to 19 years. His home is in California.

Radioman 1st Class John Bee of Tennessee, also from the Wasp also spoke of his experiences when the Wasp was lost. He told the workers how important radio tubes were in the Navy, and because of their delicate nature, the great amount of replacements which had to be made due to sinkings, jarings, and shaking of the vessels.

Previous to the rally, a tour of inspection of the plant was made by Lt. Commander Brendel, Lt. (j. g.) Carleton B. Hovey of the Public Relations Office, First Naval District, Boston, and other members of the division.

Bickford Glover White, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. White of 25 Summer st., Newton Centre has completed his flight training and has received his commission as an ensign in the naval reserve. He was presented his Navy "Wings" and commission by Capt. J. D. Price, commandant of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station and was commended for his fine record during the months of training. He is a graduate of Newton High School and of Nichols College.

Sharp Exchange of Words Marks $8500 Street Appropriation

Board of Aldermen in Lively Session; Other Small Appropriations Made

The appropriation of $8500 Monday night to carry the Newton Street Department through to the end of the year was occasion for the exchange of sharp words between two members of the Board of Aldermen.

A remark by Alderman Carroll J. Hoffman, during the course of criticism directed by him at the Street Department for what he said "had all the earmarks of a deficit," aroused the ire of Alderman James P. Akins.

The remark, to the effect that the Street Department had become "a sub-division of the Welfare Department," brought a sharp retort from Akins.

Akins declared that he resented the implication, asserting that Hoffman had cast a slur "on the hard working men in the Street Department" by styling that department a sub-division of the Welfare Department.

Hoffman voted against the Street Department requests for added appropriations after expressing the opinion that it was largely to cover a deficit. "The money is probably spent," he declared, adding that it was not likely that the sums were to be spent in the little time remaining this year.

The sums appropriated for the Street Department as recommended by Mayor Goddard were:

Collection of ashes and paper, $3000.

Maintenance of sidewalks, $2000.

Maintenance of tools and equipment, $2500.

New drains and catch basins, $1000.

The sum of $700 was appropriated for WPA administration to cover the expense of trucking of

Amend Zoning Law To Permit Use of Building By Navy

To pave the way for the use of the former West Newton telephone exchange building on Cherry st. as a plant for the manufacture of a device for the Navy—referred to as a "mouse trap"—the Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night amended the Zoning Ordinance to permit "light manufacturing" in business zones.

That residents of West Newton have registered opposition to the establishment of such a factory in the building in question was revealed by Alderman George E. Rawson, chairman of the claims and rules committee, but he also stated that the committee had been informed by Naval officers that the device, developed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is necessary for the prosecution of the war.

He said that they held increased production of the device essential and asserted that its production would be doubled in volume if the board made it possible for the plant to be moved from its present location in Newtonville to the old telephone building.

The amendment adopted Monday night was the first of two steps required to make possible the use of the building as requested. The manufacturer of the device, Doelcam Company, must obtain a permit from the Board of Aldermen for the purpose. A hearing on the petition for the permit will be held Jan. 4.

In another group of 15 enlisted WAVES who also left Sunday for the Yeoman School, U. S. Training Station at Stillwater, Oklahoma, were Miss Barbara Bierman of Auburndale, Miss Barbara L. Goldman of Chestnut Hill, and Miss Mary A. Iacono of Newton.

Among the 99 New England WAVES who entrained from the South Station Sunday for the Naval Training School at Cedar Falls, Iowa, were Alice Theresa Hunter of Chestnut Hill; Mary J. Allen of Waban; Margaret Frances Finnegan of Newton Centre and Miss Ruth Alice Hall of Newton Highlands.

Alderman Donald Gibbs said while he did not oppose the petition, he deplored the removal of the property, assessed at $40,000 from taxation. "The increase in tax-free property is something that ought to be watched closely," he warned.

Holiday Greetings Brought To All Newton Residents

Bearing Christmas greetings to residents of Newton, the holiday message of the Newton Community Chest and its fourteen member agencies, was delivered to all homes during the past week-end.

Girl Scouts, termed "Minute Maids" for their contribution to war-winning activities, performed the house-to-house delivery of 17,000 folders.

The attractive, inexpensive brochure, besides conveying Yuletide wishes, constitutes an illustrated report of the agencies' Community and wartime activities in 1942 and an expression of gratitude to Newton residents for their support.

The keynote and scope of the 1943 campaign are symbolized by the traditional red feather in a circle of blue stars, the red feather stands for the health, youth and "community" services that maintain strength, unity and security. The blue stars denote the war services included in the 1943 United War Fund.

Newton contributors to the 1943 Campaign will supply material comforts and recreation to American armed forces on the battle lines and extend hospitality to service men stationed or on leave in the Greater Boston area. They will send food, clothing and medical supplies to our stricken allies; they will keep prisoners of war fit and healthy.

Neil Leonard, President of the Newton Community Chest and 1943 Campaign Manager, in his letter, "To Our Newton Friends," wrote, "It has been said that Newton is a 'privileged community.' But, if so, it is only because you and more than 17,000 others have opened your hearts to human needs and helped to make it so."

"On behalf of those who have been helped by you through Community Chest and United War Fund agencies, we extend the Season's Greetings and a heartfelt 'Thank you,' with the earnest hope that we may count on you again in '43."

COAST GUARD COMMANDER INTERVIEWED BY NEWTON RED CROSS REPORTER

Miss Maybeth Gibson, Newton Red Cross Reporter, interviewed Commander O. A. Littlefield, Commanding Officer of the Coast Guard Receiving and Training Station in Boston, on the ninth of her radio series "Newton Red Cross at Work," over Station WHDH. Also on the program was Mrs. Melville D. Liming, a member of the Newton Canteen Committee. Commander Littlefield expressed his pleasure at being on the program because he feels that the Coast Guard has always been very close to Red Cross, since each is pledged to humanitarian service and duty. He told of some personal experiences, and then said that his first contact with Red Cross came many years ago, when he saw the Home Service Division solving his men's personal problems. "In my cases, it would mean giving money, helping families or just generally making adjustments. But in every case, our men became better members of the Coast Guard after their personal worries disappeared."

Mrs. Liming, who is a member of the Boston Canteen Squad serving the Coast Guard, told something of her work and described how the food is transported and served to the men in the field. She said that one of the most satisfying aspects of the work is getting to meet and talk with the boys. She told of one young lad who was rather homesick and who said that, although the Coast Guard food was good, he longed for a favorite kind of cake that his mother always made for him. The next time Mrs. Liming was on duty, she brought the boy that special kind of cake and he paid the highest compliment possible for her, "It tastes just as good as Mothers'."

During these broadcasts Miss Gibson has told about the various services and courses offered by Newton Red Cross, and has interviewed many of the key people of the Chapter. On Friday, January 8, at two o'clock, Miss Gibson will start another series of Newton Red Cross programs which will be heard weekly over Station WHDH.

Miss Elizabeth Wright of 33 Larchmont ave., Waban, has been awarded a Zenith portable radio by the Miles Laboratories, makers of Alka-Seltzer and sponsors of the Quiz Kids program, for a question used on the show, Sunday, Dec. 13th.

Miss Wright wanted the Kids to identify Christmas carols, and she wanted them played on a toy piano; and also the songs were played backwards. Richard Williams, 12-year-old Quiz Kid, who holds the record for number of appearances on the show, was the concert pianist.

The three selections played were "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," and "Silent Night, Holy Night." The Kids seemed as confused as the audience undoubtedly was as they guessed many. John Bishop, 15-year-old music expert, got "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night" though; and Margaret Merrick said "Adestes Fideles" for the second part, which is the same piece as "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

Quiz Kids go on the air every Sunday night at 6:30 p. m. (CWT) over the Blue Network.

COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB OF WEST NEWTON

At the December meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton, in the Second Church, Mrs. Chester Cook had as her subject "Demonstrations of Flower Arrangements." Giving a fascinating audience a detailed, illustrated talk on Christmas green decorations for the home, Mrs. Cook stated that the most important idea in all decoration, that where you place it, not what it is, is first to be considered. Mrs. Cook used natural plant material almost exclusively, and showed how to arrange how to find beauty of decorative value in the commonest weed and flower.

Previous to the business meeting at 2 p. m. a Christmas sale of 'hand made articles by the Physically Handicapped of Newton' was held. Mrs. George Fernald and Mrs. George Fuller in charge.

Mrs. William Worcester, the president, presided during the business meeting, turning it over to Mrs. C. L. Hathaway who introduced the afternoon's speaker.

Tea in the Ladies' Parlor was served by Mrs. Harold B. Cranshaw and her committee, Mrs. Albert C. Blunt, Jr., and Miss Theresa Cram presiding at the tea table.

OAK HILL IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

At the request of the Oak Hill Improvement Association the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway made the following change in the schedule of the Oak Hill Bus line which went into effect on Monday.

The early morning bus will leave the terminus at Audubon Drive at 7:35 a. m. instead of 7:40 a. m. This is to ensure connection at Newton Center with the B. & A. express train for Boston, which now leaves at 8:00 a. m. The High School bus will leave the corner of Brookline and Dedham sts. at 7:38 a. m. instead of 7:43 a. m. All other regular buses will continue to leave the terminus at 40 minutes past the hour.

Pupils boarding the regular bus on Brookline st. between Audubon and Dedham sts. may change at Newton Center for any bus which goes by the High School.

An officer of the Association was instrumental in having park benches installed at strategic points along Dedham st. for the convenience of bus patrons and others, and a catch basin installed on the west side of Dedham, opposite Meadowbrook rd. The latter improvement should correct the intolerable road condition at this location where hitherto all water from the Country Club property has passed over the roadway in order to reach a catch basin.

Slocumb Named to Succeed Schipper

Charles P. Slocumb of 15 Trowbridge ave., Newtonville, was unanimously elected alderman-at-large from Ward 2 at the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night to succeed Carl F. Schipper, Jr., who resigned to accept a commission as a lieutenant in the Navy.

George L. Curtis of 77 Walden st., Newtonville, who was originally slated to succeed Schipper withdrew after the Newton War Price and Rationing Board, of which he is a member, prevailed upon him to retain his post. The other members of the Rationing Board convinced him that he would perform more valuable public service by remaining a member of that Board than as an alderman.

Alderman Slocumb was born in 1885, attended the Newton public schools, and was graduated from Amherst College in 1907. He was secretary and treasurer of his class. He is assistant manager of the Corn Products Refining Company, with whom he has been associated since his graduation from college. His father was city solicitor of Newton for 33 years. He served as president of the Newtonville Improvement Association for 3 years and is a member of the Central Congregational Church.

He will serve the unexpired term of his predecessor, which ends Dec. 31, 1943. The next regular city election will take place in November, 1943.

CHILD CARE CENTERS

The most recent directions of the Manpower Commission issued on October 19, states that "special efforts to secure the employment of women with young children should be deferred until all other sources of labor have been exhausted in order that the established family life will not be unnecessarily disrupted." Nevertheless, with every fourth worker in the country already a woman and with increasing needs of offices, stores and restaurants added to the demand for expanding industry, it is inevitable that young mothers are going to be drawn into various kinds of jobs.

What will happen to their children? There are stories of children shut out of their homes, being left with aunts or grandmothers, having a cold lunch and no warm place to eat it while their mothers are at work.

Certain practical considerations will help to control the situation. Infants under two need too much individual attention to be cared for economically in groups. The work of the day care committee and that of the personnel required to look after their children.

It is asked that in the local community "where there is a need for planning a day care program the community should organize a local day care committee and that such a committee should be officially related to the Civilian Defense Council."

A survey to ascertain the need for Child Care Centers in Cambridge includes questioning of local industries and the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service to discover the number of women at present employed and the probable future demand. The community which tackles the problem itself can handle it in its own way. A survey should locate existing day nurseries which can be enlarged; nursery schools which can be expanded into day nurseries; available space in school buildings, churches, settlements, clubs which could be used for additional child care centers or for play space before and after school. Are there workers available for the centers? Can the community supply professional workers, volunteer "Child Care Aides" trained by the Committee of Public Safety? Will the local canteen workers help with the preparation of food?

Finally, where is the money coming from? An important source of income can be from the fees paid by the mothers using the Child Care Centers. Financial support from local sources should meet the major part of the cost, available city funds, school department contributions, and contributions from philanthropic organizations. The Community Council must assume the responsibility for obtaining local funds. If money from local sources can not be stretched to meet the entire need there are two sources of federal funds which can be tried.

Know the situation in your community. Are women being drawn into local industry?

OIL RATIONING PLUS COMMON SENSE

The only reason for rationing is obviously to distribute fairly and equitably the available amount of any commodity which is either limited or threatened by hoarding. Rules and regulations must necessarily be established. But sometimes the makers of the rules lose sight of the real purpose and are more concerned with bureaucratic power than with the solution of human needs.

The primary object of fuel rationing is to provide warmth for every individual and to keep the industrial plants running.

Many household oil rationings are inadequate for comfort and for health. As yet no local board has been permitted by the bureaucratic rules to say to Mr. X and family that they may close their house and move in with Mr. Y and family, and by pooling their oil coupons live in warmth. A simple illustration is that of two houses each rationed fifteen hundred gallons—but requiring two thousand. With one house closed there is a net saving of possibly one thousand gallons and both families are warm. Close friends and in-laws (not always synonymous) would cheerfully endure the temporary disadvantages of communal living for the greater reward of adequate heat. Elementary arithmetic discloses the hundreds of thousands—yes, millions—of gallons of fuel oil which would be freed for others and for industry. Many have brought to our attention the inability of local boards to put into practice this common-sense solution. Pressure is being exerted on the higher authorities, and we would be happy indeed to learn that coincident with this editorial common sense has proved to be contagious.

TOTAL FITNESS

WE ARE IN A WAR FOR SURVIVAL. Only the fit survive. Fit minds, fit muscles, fit morals: that is total fitness. Our danger is that we have softened up on all counts, and fail to recognize it. Self-indulgence is skyrocketing our liquor and tobacco bills. Such softness is a threat to our national security. We cannot win a war with steel tanks and flabby wills, with long-range bombers and short-range endurance, with the guns to fight without the guts to fight. And we cannot build a new world out of the same kind of material that brought this one crashing about our ears.

But we can change. Other nations have changed. Fired by nationalistic philosophies which promise the world to the super-race and the super-class, young men toughened up in labor battalions, and whole peoples sacrificed personal comforts for national strength. Before they found a burning faith they were beaten, poverty-stricken, disillusioned, soft. But they changed—for their own ends and went on the march. Today we struggle with those nations for world control.

And we can change. We can change quickly. Once more we can find the flaming faith that will strip us of selfishness and softness—the faith out of which democracy was born and with which alone the fanaticism of our enemies will be outmatched. We can tap the Superforce that will give us a super toughness of character and will. It comes when men are guided by God instead of their desires, greeds and fears. Then men will live and think as if their living and thinking decided their country's destiny. Which it does. Such men will make America totally fit.

The popular victory handbook "You Can Defend America" puts this matter in a nutshell: "The fight is on. The fight against our softness, graft, laziness, extravagance, buck-passing, materialism—allies of the Fifth Column... It is a daily battle. It takes courage. Imagination. You've got to be tough inside. You've got to think hard, and live clean." Fit to win the war, secure the peace, and build a new world.

"F. H. B." always meant "family hold back" at a dinner party. It's no "dinner party" for your boy in Tunis or the Solomons. He needs more meat out there than he had at the family dinner table. F. H. B. at the butcher's.

NEW YEAR'S OPEN HOUSE PROGRAM BEING PLANNED

Preliminary plans were announced yesterday for the Annual New Year's Day Open House to be held at the Newton Y. M. C. A. This year the All Newton Music School will be the special guests of the Y. M. C. A. and in addition to furnishing music in the lobby will give a program in the auditorium.

The various club, team, and gymnasium groups are busy lining up their programs. The gymnastics and swimming pool activities will be under the direction of the Physical Department Committee of which Mr. Arthur M. Jacobs is chairman. The Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. George R. Strandberg, president, will be in charge of the tea at five o'clock.

During the afternoon the Boy's Division Committee of which Dr. A. Philip Guile is chairman will be the receiving group. In the evening the Membership Committee under the leadership of Mr. Charles Sprague, chairman, will be the reception committee.

The program will include special events in the gymnasium for boys in the afternoon, also a swimming program for boys. In the evening there will be squash and handball exhibitions, a basketball game, probably volleyball and badminton, and a water carnival.

The public is invited to any of these events.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Merry Christmas

For nearly ten years it has been my privilege to write political columns in various papers in Metropolitan Boston. It was the Newton Graphic which gave me my first opportunity to build up a clientele, which has grown gradually throughout the years and given me much real satisfaction and pleasure. I herewith record my gratitude to this splendid paper and wish it prosperity in the coming years.

Now, nobody cares very much about the doings of our numerous politicians at this season of the year, especially during war times. Furthermore, the mere business of living and keeping reasonably warm appears to occupy a large part of our time. Our chief interest in political affairs has to do with the behavior of our public servants in the prosecution of the war and in the maintenance of the home front. Just so long as the war effort proceeds satisfactorily and the home fires are kept burning, just so long will the general public let their public servants proceed serenely on their way. There is, of course, one matter of supreme importance which our politicians must never for a moment forget. That is the question of the post-war years in the United States. All of us, naturally, hope wholeheartedly for the vital work of reconstruction in Europe will be accomplished in the most effective manner possible. At the same time, there is no reason why our own people should not have held out to them the hope that our own country may continue to be a land of hope and opportunity, where the four great freedoms will continue as a part of our national fabric. As our brave men fight to secure freedom for the oppressed peoples of the world, we must take steps to ensure the continuance of freedom of every sort for our own people. Right now there are many who fear that the current regimentation will continue indefinitely and that the post-war period will turn our land into a highly socialistic state. That, incidentally, is precisely why so many good Americans have found it difficult at times to support our Commander-in-Chief as wholeheartedly as they would like to. Frankly, that has been one of the things which has worried me a great deal personally. However, I have come to have more faith in our wartime President as the global war has proceeded on its gruesome way. After all, can any of us question our chosen leader's fundamental Americanism? Is it conceivable that he should wish to make any vital changes in the governmental, economic or social structure of our nation which are not desired or believed in by a heavy majority of our citizens? I doubt it.

A brief confession may be in order at this time, if my readers will pardon a few personal remarks. They say that confession is good for the soul. Perhaps, after all, it is only human nature to have a number of pet beliefs and prejudices. At any rate, I have always had my full share. Some of my pet peeves have been shallow, insincere politicians who appear to live only for themselves and the votes they can amass. I realize, of course, that a professional politician has a hard time getting anywhere unless he pretends to be gravely concerned about the welfare of all his constituents, especially around election-time. My objection is not so much to his apparent insincerity as it is to his failure to follow through after election and continue his interest. Another pet peeve is a bureaucracy, quite regardless of which political party is in charge. Still another is the spoils system; also, the habit of purging appointees of one party just as soon as the other party is successful at the polls. Incidentally, I have a rather tough time writing some of my columns, especially those which appear in Newton, where my connection with the Republican party is a matter of common knowledge over a long period of years. In some future column I shall discuss this matter in great detail.

The particular point I wish to stress today is the habit too many of us have had in past years. I refer to the habit of taking a lusty whack at anything and everything which President Roosevelt says or does. Obviously, he cannot possibly be wrong all the time. However, some of his most persistent critics never give the man a break. Personally, I feel just a bit guilty, as I am quite aware of the fact that I have been quite bitter about a good many domestic policies. Also, I have been extremely impatient with the members of the President's family. Consequently, one of my New Year's resolutions which I shall try hard to keep will be the resolve to be just as fair and square as humanly possible in my comments on the White House. And finally, let me say that I have been, apparently, very much in error in my attitude toward the four Roosevelt sons, who have received a great deal of very bad publicity for many years. Whatever mistakes any of them may have made prior to this war, it is a safe bet that there are few families in the entire country who can show a better record in the war itself. Unless I have been misinformed, every one of the four Roosevelt sons has seen active service and has been in real danger. My hat is off to them all.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you all.

P. W. C.

Appointment Given To Cong. Eliot

The appointment of Congressman Thomas H. Eliot as Chief of the British Division, London Bureau of the Office of War Information, was announced this week by Elmer Davis, Congressman Eliot, whose term expires January 3, 1943, will leave for his new duties shortly thereafter.

A native of Cambridge, Mass., Congressman Eliot has been in the government service most of the last ten years. In announcing his appointment, Mr. Davis particularly mentioned that in 1934, Eliot as counsel of the President's Committee on Economic Security had a large hand in framing the Social Security program, and his final speech in the House was a favorable analysis of the Beveridge report, which in many respects parallels a new social security bill introduced by Eliot last September.

From 1935 to 1938, Eliot was General Counsel of the Social Security Board. For a part of that time he served upon the Board's first chairman, John G. Winant, now United States Ambassador in London. Eliot's office in London will be located at the Embassy.

In Britain he will head up the division established some months ago by the OWI, and will maintain a close contact with the British Ministry of Information, the British public and American armed forces in the United Kingdom.

Statement of Congressman Thomas H. Eliot with Respect to His Appointment as Chief of the British Division, Office of War Information

"I am going to England in the conviction that the only thing worth striving for is a victory of the men of good will—an opportunity to build a world of free men who can live at peace because they trust one another.

"There could be no hope for victory were not the people who have faith in freedom and humanity united in this fatal struggle. To maintain and strengthen our unity of purpose is a task of first importance in this war.

"There will be no chance for peace and freedom if the nations now fighting against tyranny allow victory to dissolve the unity already achieved. If we wish to keep the spirit of brotherhood and freedom and hope alive in the world, we will have to continue to act in concert with other nations, including those with traditions and values different from ours. Where a common heritage of language and political beliefs exist, the possibility of a common program is the much greater, and failure to agree on a common program would be correspondingly more disastrous.

"I take up my work in this United Nation whose traditions and philosophy are so familiar to us, believing that our unity in war and peace can be furthered by greater knowledge and understanding, and that the differences between us must be recognized and discounted, while we make common cause in striving for a world where man can live in liberty and friendship."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The biggest find gun in the Army. That's the 21-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the Big Bertha is set upon its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.

When Irene got home from the airplane factory she was good and tired. This was the hour, after work and before dinner, that she always looked forward to. Her private name for it was "My sissy hour." Into it, these days, she packed all the lazy, luxurious little things she loved—things that used to take up a lot more than an hour of her peace-time days.

She sat down at the little desk in her room. You could tell quite a lot about Irene from that desk. The water-glass filled with the small bouquet of flowers she sometimes bought on the way home. The paper-weight of pink marble. The thin, crackly blue air-mail stationery.

The framed photograph of a young man in a corporal's uniform—as good looking a man as Irene was pretty. On the blotter lay the telegram that had come that morning just as she was leaving for work.

With those long, well-shaped fingers she reached for a sheet of paper. She nibbled the end of her pen for a bit, and then she wrinkled up her nose at the picture of the soldier and began to write, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," but the corporal's name was Jackson and she called him Pete. Her round handwriting spread across the page. "My boy friend is with the A.E.F. in Ireland. He has cabled me fifty dollars with which to buy a diamond ring. I've been thinking it over and decided to buy a War Bond to help Uncle Sam instead. This may help to bring my boy friend home sooner, and then he can help me select my ring."

Slowly she began to sign her name, "Irene —"

An Emergency War Time Message to the People of Greater Boston

Riding on the Boston Elevated Railway has increased drastically. The ban on the sale of gasoline to private motorists will add to an already acute public transportation problem. Accordingly, the City of Boston War Transportation Conservation Committee urges that every person who can possibly do so should avoid traveling on the Boston Elevated Railway system during the rush hours, especially between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

This is a patriotic necessity.

Between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. the Elevated now carries 130,000 passengers over its entire system. All those who now ride unnecessarily in this hour are helping to create a serious transportation problem. They should make a determined effort to change their hours of travel.

Large groups of employees, including those working in the retail stores, insurance companies and for the City of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, have already co-operated in the staggering of their working hours. These employees, however, represent less than one-half of the number actually using the downtown stations of the Elevated in this evening peak hour of riding.

Here is the transportation problem in a nutshell: On a recent representative day, 56,955 passengers entered the downtown stations of the Elevated from 5:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Note the distribution from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.:

From 4:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M.	35,509
From 5:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M.	56,955
From 6:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M.	27,753

There is no more room for riders between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Yet, the number of passengers being carried on the Elevated is increasing daily because of the sharp trend away from private means of transportation.

Remember, the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington warns that there is no additional equipment available. Thus, the problem is to spread the evening rush hour riding over a longer period to prevent riding conditions which may otherwise become intolerable.

THE NEW YEAR

Another twelve-months has slipped away.
Like jewels upon a golden string,
From January white, bewitching
sway,
To ancient December's blustering;
Memories clustering around my door,
Memories sweet of bygone years,
Whisper of days that are no more,
Gone, are their laughter and their tears.

Veiled is the future, oh life of mine,
But Jesus, dear Lord, wilt Thou
hold my hand,
While slowly, the Hour Glass of Time,
Loosens reluctantly, the sand;
Ever my soul seems entreating
Thee,
Protesting and pleading these blows of Fate;
Thy voice comes sweetly o'er Galilee,
"Trust me, dear child, be still and wait."

Soon I shall hear, on a sunny slope,
In the New Year's hours,—a harp
and lyre;
Spanned, as by Noah's Bow of Hope.

Are the dark Peaks of my Desire;
The rainbow foretells my dreams
will come true,
Dreams of a better and nobler
life;
Farewell, Old Year—bittersweet
and rue,
Welcome, New Year, with happiness rife!

Miss Walker has been connected with Home Service since the outbreak of World War I. At that time, Home Service cared for the men in service and their families in many emergencies, and when the boys came home, Home Service helped them in presenting and adjusting claims and in rehabilitating them for civilian life. Then, in the years between the wars, Home Service has been constantly active, serving the men in the peacetime Army and Navy, and acting as liaison representative between disabled veterans, their families and the Veterans' Bureau.

Miss Walker has been Home Service Secretary since 1929, along with her duties at the Family Service Bureau. When World War II began, Home Service handled many inquiries for people wishing to reach their families and friends in war-torn Europe. Since the entry of the United States into the War, there has been an enormous increase in the demands on Home Service, necessitating the appointment of a new, full-time Secretary. This work has added much to civilian morale and has laid a sound basis for the future development of Home Service. The new Secretary, Miss Christine Tarpinian, who took up her duties this week, has found a large and eager staff of volunteers ready to help her. With the severing of their official connection with the Red Cross Home Service, the Family Service Bureau will continue to cooperate with the Red Cross in meeting the many new problems arising out of war conditions, following out the agreement between the National Red Cross and the Family Welfare Association of America. This will assure to Newton citizens that all community resources are marshaled to meet war emergencies.

Night Skating Is Prohibited At Three Skating Areas In The Newtons

Action Made Necessary By Dim-Out Regulations and Inability To Secure Proper Lighting Devices—Post Guards

Night skating on Bulbough's Pond, Ware's Cove and Crystal Lake is prohibited this season, according to an announcement made by Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson.

The action was taken by the recreation department because of difficulties involved in providing adequate lighting due to dim-out regulations. The new rules require that only 40-watt bulbs may be used and the lights must be shaded and at least 20 feet apart. The necessary wiring for such a lighting system could not be obtained without priorities and the resulting illumination would not be satisfactory, because the lights could be strung along the shores only, providing little or no lighting for the middle of the pond.

To enforce the new ban on night skating, the Recreation Department has posted guards at the three skating areas and the police have been requested to assist in keeping the ponds clear of skaters at night.

Another argument in favor of the new rule is in the event of an air raid it would be difficult for the large crowds of skaters to find shelter in a reasonable length of time.

Transit Problem Necessitates The Discontinuance Of Trainees Here

Because of transportation difficulties it has become necessary to discontinue the classes for machinists' trainees from the Charlestown Navy Yard which have been held at the Newton Trade School in the Hamilton School, Newton Lower Falls since October 1941. In serving notice to the school department of the necessity of withdrawing the trainees, Rear Admiral Willson Brown, Commandant of the Navy Yard, expressed appreciation of the valuable aid given by the Newton School Department in making the plants available for use by the Navy.

Supt. Julius Warren announces that the Army will now take the trade school and will install two groups of women, 14 in each group, to train as machinists for the Watertown Arsenal, at the Hamilton School and will also install two groups of 50 men each who are now training at the Wentworth Institute. In the main plant of the Trade School at Newtonville.

The equipment at both schools, most of which has been contributed by the federal government, will remain intact.

Seventh Son Enters The Armed Forces

Walter Gordon of 11 Winthrop ave., Newton, who was inducted into the Army on December 23, is the seventh son of Mrs. Annie J. Gordon to enter the armed services. Walter, who is 36 years of age, served four years in the U. S. Navy following his graduation from high school.

Mrs. Gordon's eldest son, Francis, 39, of Jamaica, N. Y., who is married and has two children, a pharmacist's mate in the Navy. He also served four years in the Navy when a youth. Another son, Seaman First Class William P. Gordon, 26, enlisted in the Navy more than two years ago.

Three other sons who are in the Army are Corp. Arthur A. Gordon, 34, now stationed in Georgia, Pvt. John B. Gordon, 32, in Honolulu, and Technical Sgt. Edward P. Gordon, 30, who is at Camp Edwards.

Another son, the youngest Paul F. Gordon, 24, is employed at the Navy Yard at Pearl Harbor and was there at the time of the Japanese attack. Because of a physical defect, having been lame since he was a child, he was not accepted for military service, and therefore went into naval construction work.

Mrs. Gordon also has a son-in-law, Albert Bittrock of Roxbury, who is in the Navy.

The Gordon family have been residents of Newton for 16 years, coming here from Waltham, after the death of Mr. Gordon.

Alice in Wonderland... The Ceiling Mystery

By Mary K. Allen

"O where, O where has the ceiling gone? O where, O where can it be!" cried Alice as, accompanied by the March Hare and the Mad Hatter, she entered the market.

"There isn't any over this counter," said the March Hare testily. And to be sure, there wasn't any; for they were standing by the fresh fruits and vegetables counter.

There never has been a ceiling on fresh fruits and vegetables. When they are plentiful, the prices are low; and when they are relatively scarce, as just now, the prices are high.

Indeed, Alice looked rather rueful as she took out a quarter to pay for a head of lettuce. "It isn't always so high," said the observant clerk. "It was $0.19 yesterday and $1.17 three days ago."

Alice reflected it was a pity that the greater the number of people who wanted lettuce, the higher the price became; but that was business worked. It was silly, she thought, that people had to pay more than they really could afford for something they needed, just because there wasn't enough to go around. Why not just keep the price down and let late comers get left?

Just then the March Hare pointed out that there were ceilings over nearly every other counter except the one where the fresh sea-food was displayed. Yes, like fresh fruits and vegetables, fresh sea-food has never had a ceiling. When there is lots of it, the price goes down; and when there is only a little, the price goes up.

At present the prices of fresh fruits and vegetables (and fresh sea-foods, too) tend to go up and stay up for three major reasons: First, and least important, there are always times in any winter when they tend to be scarce. Second, the railways have such a tremendous burden of goods to carry that they may not be able to bring as much as usual to the East from the South and West. Third, the demand is very great, greater than usual, partly because many people have more money than usual and therefore can afford more and better food, and partly because, with meat, cheese and even egg supply diminished, people are eating more fish, fruit and vegetables. For fish, fruit and vegetables, perhaps there will be a fourth reason too; namely, that as canned goods become fewer and have to be saved more exclusively for the armed forces, people will have to turn still more to fresh fish, fruits and vegetables.

If all of these four reasons worked together, thought Alice, would she have to pay $50 for a head of lettuce?

The March Hare guessed what she was thinking. "No," he said crossly, "no, you probably won't. OPA may step in then and put ceilings on fish, fruit and vegetables."

"That's what ought to happen," said Alice. "Then at any rate prices won't go on up, and everyone can buy at the same price. It's the only democratic way; then, even though prices may be so high as to make it hard for some people, at least everyone will have the same chance at whatever food there is. It won't be high because it's scarce."

Newton Quota $315,000 For United War Fund

Quota $30,000 More Than Last Year's Figure of $285,000; Workers Confident Sum Will Be Raised

Newton's quota is $315,000 of the $7,800,000 set by the 1942 Greater Boston United War Fund. Neil Leonard, president of the Newton Community Chest and Chairman of the Newton Campaign Organization, announced this week.

As it steps in providing for essential war services in addition to supporting vital community social needs, Newton has undertaken to raise in its 1943 Campaign $30,000 more than its last year's quota of $285,000, Leonard declared.

The $315,000 to be raised in Newton between January 18 and February 9, his statement explained, is to meet the public's share of supporting the following community social agencies and the national war-service organizations participating in the Greater Boston United War Fund:

Newton Community Chest—fourteen member agencies keeping the home front strong, united and secure.

United Service Organizations (USO)—more than 1100 clubhouses and units meeting the needs of our fighting men all over the world to the number of 3,000,000 a month. The national agencies comprising this one great organization for service men are the National Travelers Aid Society, the Salvation Army, the Y.W.C.A., the Y.M.C.A., the National Catholic Community Service and the Jewish Welfare Board. The USO, Greater Boston Soldiers and Sailors Committee, serving approximately 200,000, each also participates in the 1943 campaign to extend hospitality to service men stationed and on leave in Greater Boston.

United Nations Relief Fund—for aid to the Chinese, Russians, British, Dutch, Greeks, the Free French, Polish, Yugoslavs, Norwegians and Czechs. The amount contributed by Americans will not meet all the human needs of these peoples, but they will help alleviate some suffering and will serve as a concrete demonstration that Americans are responding to the desperate plight of their allies who have been bled white in resisting the Axis.

Emergency War Services—for special needs created by war conditions, including intensive work by the American Social Hygiene Association, the bolstering of the "Barbed Wire Legion" by the War Prisoners' Aid Committee and an emergency fund to cover Greater Boston's share of unforeseen but critical war needs which may develop.

"In the 1943 Campaign, Newton is asked to give more, not for community needs but to do its full part in the victory program," Mr. Leonard emphasized. "The agencies in the Chest will receive practically the same financial support as last year; they are appealing only for their minimum needs. In meeting their normal demands and the expanded services brought on by war conditions, they are exerting the utmost economy."

"But we have a greater USO program to help finance this year. This indispensable service to our fighting men, of whom, according to conservative estimate, there are now about 4,000 Newton boys, operates 1100 clubhouses and units as compared with some 800 a year ago. In addition, this year we have the duty as citizens of a country at war to send material help and give spiritual hope to our stricken allies of the United Nations."

"In the same enthusiastic and generous spirit that Newton went well over the top in the 1942 Campaign," he continued, "I am confident that the people of this city will contribute to the 1943 appeal in greater numbers and larger amounts than ever before. As in the past they can be counted on to meet their share of the community social-service needs. As patriotic Americans, they will give financially in the same generous measure, as they are giving in home-front service and in giving fathers, husbands and sons to the armed forces, to help the victory program."

The citation reads as follows:

For extraordinary heroism and conspicuous duty that Newton went to the top in the 1942 Campaign, in action against enemy Japanese forces during the Battle of Midway, June 4, 1942. Leading his section in a dauntless and aggressive attack against a vastly superior number of Japanese bomber and fighter planes, Capt. McCarthy aided in disrupting the plans of the enemy and lessening the effectiveness of their attack thereby contributing materially to the success of our forces. He displayed the characteristics of a fine leader and excellent airman, in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

This is the second decoration awarded Captain McCarthy for heroic action. He was presented early in May with the Navy Flying Cross for his part in shooting down a four motored enemy bomber in the Pacific. At that time he was a lieutenant and was shortly afterward promoted to captain.

Captain McCarthy was graduated from the Newton High School where he was a member of the football team and while a student at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, had a brilliant grid career. He entered the Marine Corps Flying School in 1939 and after completing the course was sent to Pensacola, Florida. The following year he was commissioned a second lieutenant as fighting plane pilot and was sent to San Diego. He was stationed at Midway on Dec. 7, 1941 when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Newton Man Gets Second Decoration

Mr. and Mrs. William J. McCarthy of 61 Beaumont ave., Newton, have received word from the Navy Department that the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism and conspicuous devotion to duty" had been awarded to their son, Captain Francis P. McCarthy, Newton Marine flier who was reported as missing in action in the Battle of Midway last June.

The citation reads as follows:

STOP THIEF!

Survivors in lifeboats in peacetime or wartime are more concerned with manning the oars and pumps than with academic discussions of the cause of their predicament and who was at fault. But if food and water are low and meagerly rationed the wrath of the survivors is quickly and effectively evident to that culprit and traitor who steals. Why, then, the complacency of many in a situation exactly comparable?

Gasoline is being rationed under equitable rules, but there are those who reportedly violate the trust reposed in them, hinder the war effort and are as guilty of treachery to their fellow-citizens as he who steals the fresh water in a lifeboat. And equally guilty and contemptible is the person who participates through collusion or silence. The war is not a reality to him who countenances violations. Such a one adopts the attitude outmoded by war, that he will not be a "tell-tale". Would that be his inert attitude if he saw his precious ration of water gurgling down the throat of a traitorous fellow-survivor.

Members of rationing boards are fair-minded and honorable citizens, sworn representatives of the government, performing their arduous duties in accordance with the established rules and regulations. Everyone has the right to present his case and have it judged without prejudice or favoritism. He who gives or sells to another the allotted coupons is an enemy of his country. And he who condones the offense or protects the offenders is as guilty as the harborers of saboteurs from U-boats.

The home front needs to be awakened. Long ago the war ceased to be a phony one. Social life and business life are no longer as usual. Peacetime niceties and "cleverness" are out—or we all will be gasping in the lifeboats with parched throats, even those who steal for momentary relief.

AMERICA'S BIG IDEA

Today America fights for her life in the biggest war in history. Millions of men are mobilized. So are millions of minds. Big armies are on the march. So are big ideas. Ideas fired men's imaginations before men fired their guns.

Big ideas have gripped the minds of millions. The idea of a super-race for world conquest. The idea of super-class for world control. The idea of the super-dollar for world power. Nations have fallen before the impact of these ideas. Other nations have been confused and divided by them.

The democracies must fight fire with fire. We need all the fire power our ships, planes and guns can provide. We also need the fire to set easy-going Americans ablaze until the illumination of our thinking and the vigor of our action make every other revolutionary way of life pale into insignificance. This fire must not die down until the world is remade.

Remake the world—crazy? Not so crazy as the world we are living in. And dying in. Remake the world—impossible for America? The Panama Canal was impossible until men engineered it. Flight was fantastic until the Wright brothers flew. Electric light was unthinkable until Edison flooded our homes with it. No job is too big if you know how to tackle it.

The ungodly mess the world is in comes from people like ourselves who have forgotten God. Remaking the world starts with remaking America. And Americans.

This is an essential part of our war effort. Start today by putting one wrong right. 130 million doing it! America's big idea means we get back to honesty, decency, neighborliness. No more buck-passing, the cards on the table—the breakfast table as well as the conference table. Americans then will bring the clean-up in politics and speed-up in industry which we need to win the war.

And the fire of America's big idea will burn in the heart of every American and floodlight the world.

We've got meatless days. We might also cut out the beefing.

We have heatless houses. Let's drop the heated arguments. We have tireless cars. Let's be tireless at work.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

The President's Sons

In response to inquiries, I wish to report that the latest information about our President's four sons is as follows: Lieut. Colonel James Roosevelt, who took part in the Marine raid on Makin, is now in California; Lieut. Colonel Elliott Roosevelt has been located by news men in North Africa, where he heads up a photographic unit in Major General Jimmy Doolittle's Twelfth Air Force. Note what his pilot, Major Harry Eidsen, says of him: "You've got to hand it to Roosevelt. That plane we fly is just big enough for two of us, and he is a big man—so big he cannot even wear a parachute. You know what that would mean if we got winged. That takes what we politely call fortitude." (Guts is the word, reader.) Roosevelt is engaged in "dicing," which means flying as low as 100 feet over enemy targets for close-up pictures. This is an extremely dangerous assignment, as you may imagine. Passing on, we find that Lieut. (j.g.) Franklin Roosevelt of the Navy has been in a Philadelphia hospital, "recovering from something that happened around North Africa." Lieut. "John" Roosevelt is on Navy duty in San Diego. Not had for one distinguished family!

Congressman Christian A. Hertel

May I commend our new Congressman from the Tenth Congressional district, Hon. Christian A. Hertel, for his excellent idea of holding informal receptions for the benefit of his constituents. Brookline and Newton were covered this past Tuesday and Wednesday and it is fair to assume that most, if not all of the other communities in the Tenth district will be similarly handled. Life is so complicated nowadays and we are all so busy that it is a fine thing to have an opportunity to meet our public officials face to face.

The New Congress

The Seventy-Eighth Congress will not be a rubber-stamp Congress; that much is definite. The division between the two major parties is so extremely close that it will be a relatively simple matter for the Republicans to team up with the anti-New Deal Democrats from the South and block any and all hasty or ill-considered legislation which may emanate from the White House or any of the multitudinous bureaus in Washington. The Democrats now have only 222 members compared with 266 in the current Congress, recently adjourned.

The Republicans, on the other hand, will now have 209 compared with 161 in the Seventy-Seventh Congress. (N. B. Remember, when you add these figures and find that they do not add up to 435, that there are always a dozen or more minor party members or temporary vacancies. In the recent Congress, for example, there were three Progressives, one Farmer Laborite, one American Laborite, one Independent and two vacancies.)

Several interesting points have recently been brought out about this Congress. The Republicans won 103 of their 209 seats in the Middle-West. Again, it is important to note that the G. O. P. polled a larger combined popular vote in the Congressional contests throughout the country than the Democrats for the first time in 14 years. The G. O. P. polled 14,217,320 votes for Congress and the Democrats polled only 13,331,245 votes. On a percentage basis, that is 50.6 per cent against 47.4 per cent. Minor party figures are not included here. The combined total, 28,111,583, including all minor parties, was the smallest vote in any national election in 22 years. The most important point of all is that the Republicans had pluralities in the House voting in 27 states which will have 344 electoral votes in the 1944 Presidential race as compared with Democratic pluralities in 21 states which have 187 electoral votes. On this basis, the Republicans would have 78 votes more than the necessary majority in 1944.

Congress and the Voters

One thing which has always troubled me has been the extreme difficulty in keeping tabs on our Congressmen. Now, if a political commentator finds it difficult to keep properly posted during Congressional sessions, how can we expect the average citizen to keep in close or accurate touch with affairs in Washington? To be sure, the Boston papers normally print roll-calls on vital bills, but even these are not always displayed prominently. The bulk of the regular roll-calls receive scant attention in the press. Furthermore, the press tells us very little about the membership of the various committees. For example, how many of my readers can tell me the committee posts held by our Massachusetts Senators and Congressmen? You may have learned that Congressman Richard B. Wigglesworth of Milton is on the vital Appropriations Committee, merely because that particular committee has been very much in the news. For the same reason, most of you undoubtedly know that Congressman Richard, Hon. David I. Walsh of Clinton is Chairman of the powerful Naval Affairs Committee. However, it is a safe bet that not one in a thousand readers could name correctly the committee assignments of all our Congressmen. Some day I propose to do something concrete about this situation.

Fan-Mail

Next week, I shall comment on several letters which I have received recently. Especially interesting is one from one of our boys in the service. He is deeply interested in what I said a short time ago about the manpower problem. He wants further details.

Happy New Year to you all!

The year that is just closing has been one of surprises and sensations, and in many respects one of considerable gratification. Over 500 of Newton's young men are already in the service of their country. Over six millions of dollars in Liberty bonds were taken by residents of this city. Several thousands of our citizens are members of the Red Cross, and hundreds of our women are actively at work in the many ways in which their hands can be employed. While we have shown what we can do, when the call placed before us, let us "highly resolve" that equal success shall be achieved in every call which shall be made on us in the future.

—MAKING "PROTECT YOUR HOME" A SLOGAN FOR REPAIR AND REMODELING

A year ago, Northeastern Homes Foundation was urging home building, as each family's best investment in unity and hope and happiness. Within that year not only lives, but purposes, have greatly changed. Now each family's happiness and security is dependent on the successful waging of war; individual effort to earn and establish a home is very rightly second to united effort to protect all homes, making us the best Collier, Foundation Director.

"For one full year we have watched a great mobilization of men and materials. One by one our factories and mills have changed over from producing the materials which made us the best housed, best fed, and best clothed people in the world, to producing the materials of war.

"One by one our ordinary purchases have changed. Many things which we thought of as necessities we are now unable to buy at all. Of others we can have limited or rationed amounts.

"Our home building is limited by restrictions, priorities, and lack of materials. But in place of pride in a new home we have the satisfaction of knowing that the building materials have made can'tonments for our soldiers, ships for our Navy, planes for our Air Force. We know that the skilled workmen and precision machines which made hardware, wiring, plumbing and other home appliances are making implements of war which are gradually tipping the scales in our favor, bringing victory nearer.

"So today Northeastern Homes Foundation is urging 'Protect Your Home.' Keep it in good repair, eliminate damp and draughts; conserve as you conserve tires, or sugar, or newly-rationed coffee. Make the most of each room. Pleasant surroundings help morale; relieve fatigue and mental strain. Convert an attic or basement into a snug apartment for a war worker who has left his comfortable home to live in an area where a concentration of war industries has made a housing shortage. Peck Lumber Co. will be glad to give you free estimates.

"More than ever, after a year of war, we value the security of our homes. More deeply than ever we are resolved to their protection.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS DISCUSSION GROUPS

Five informal neighborhood groups have been started in Newton by the League of Women Voters to discuss important topics of the moment. Some meet in the morning; others meet in the afternoon, on a day which does not conflict with Red Cross, church association, or Women's Club.

The League believes that one way to keep our government democratic is to have people informed and thinking on current problems. They have developed this plan where groups of women may form to meet every two weeks for discussion based on material and leadership provided by the League.

Many busy women have found that these discussions fill startling gaps in their knowledge and thinking. They pass on to others, with whom they come in contact, this information and these ideas. Next week they are to learn what Massachusetts and especially Newton is doing in the way of child care. The program is flexible to allow choice of any topic. Mrs. E. B. Millard is in charge of organizing these groups.
